Police searching for armed robbery suspect

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

Antioch police and Crime Stoppers are seeking information about an armed robbery that occurred in Antioch on Dec. 30 at 4:13 p.m.

The offender displayed a handgun and demanded the victim's purse. He then entered the passenger side of a maroon-colored vehicle, possibly an older model Ford Taurus. The vehicle, driven by an unknown suspect, fled the area after the incident. The car had no rear registration plate.

"We really want to get this solved," said Antioch police Sgt. Craig Summerville. "Our hope is that someone can come forward with good information to help us find the offender."

The victim was unharmed, and a portion of her property was recovered in the Gurnee area hours later.

"We need to keep the details generic so we'll know if those coming forward really have information for us," Summerville explained. "Otherwise, we'll get calls with people parroting back to us what they have read in the paper."

The offender was described as a white or Hispanic male between the ages of 18-25 years old, about 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighing about 160 pounds and with dark eyes.

Information leading to an arrest could result in $1,000 reward. Calls about this crime or other felony crimes or felony fugitives should be directed to Crime Stoppers at 662-2222.

Antioch Aglow brunch offers discount to girls under 21

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

For the Feb. 17 brunch meeting of Antioch Aglow Community Lighthouse, girls under the age of 21years-old are being offered a reduced price brunch.

The meeting's speaker will be 17-year-old Kari Wiedenhaupt who attends Williams Bay Public High School in Williams Bay, Wis. She will give testimony about being

"free indeed."

Wiedenhaupt is part of the worship team at her church, and will intern with John George Ministries this summer where she will help put on STORM (students taking on righteous missions) camps for teenagers.

"Today's teenager has many challenges," said Wiedenhaupt. "But if we look to God, he will always bring victory."

Antioch man hopes to capture trustee position despite lack of name recognition

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

Most of the members of the Antioch First party are fairly well known through the positions they've held as mayor, village trustee, board member of the planning and zoning commission or some combination of the three. One, however, is lesser known.

Ken Karasek is seeking the position of village trustee as part of the Antioch First party. Though he wasn't raised in Antioch, he visited the village frequently from the time he was a child coming to visit his grandfather and eventually choose to make it his home and raise his family here.

He has been a member of the redevelopment committee for the last two years, and over the last three years has served as parade and food service chairman for the Day Independence celebration while volunteering for other special events in the village, regularly attending village board meetings and organizing subdivision activities.

Additionally, Karasek is a nine-year member of ABATE (A Brotherhood Aimed Toward Education) with one year of service as a legislative director and one year of service as a state representative; is a member of the Loyal Order of Moose, Antioch Lodge 525; and has spent time as a coach and manager of the ATOMS hockey team.

"I know what's going on in the village," said Karasek. "I want to help shape things in the future."

Karasek

He said he feels the most obvious challenge facing the village board is balancing residential and business growth. He said, "I think the ordinance that passed with regard to the East Sub-Area is a great measure toward curbing growth."

Karasek said he is interested in maintaining the reasons why people in the community stay here, and why others choose to come here to make their homes. . He added, "I think the mayor and trustees have done a good job working on the issues that have come before the board...I've lived other places that have had a lot of problems and Antioch isn't like that. I care about what goes on in the village."

Candidates for April 3 election announced

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

The time is up for filing petitions with the village clerk to be placed on the ballot for the April 3 consolidated. Eight candidates will appear on the ballot, two running against one another for the position of mayor, and the others vying for one of three open seats for village trustee.

Four of the candidates are running as the Antioch First party and include incumbent mayor Marilyn Shineflug, Dorothy Larson who currently holds one of the trustee positions, Tom Baba who is serving as a board member of the combined planning and zoning board and Ken Karasek.

Shineflug had said of the Antioch First party, "Each of our candidates has demonstrated an outstanding record of positive involvement in our community."

Running as independent candidates are Taso Maravela for mayor and Scott Pierce, Robert McCarty and Bob Caulfield who are each seeking a position as village trustee.

Maravela said, "I intend to run an aggressive, position-oriented campaign that will address the present issues of this community."

Pierce said his campaign will be based on the issues facing Antioch, and is intent on representing the people. "I plan on being elected to be the voice of the families in Antioch," he said. "Whether it is working to ensure the safety of our children, address the needs of their parents or provide a voice to our senior family members - I want to be the one they can freely come to for help." He added that the keywords to his campaign are "communication, advocacy and planning."

Neither McCarty nor Caulfield were available for comment.

Keep your New Year's resolution with TOPS

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

A support group called TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) can help those who have resolved to lose weight in the coming year keep their promises.

"I lost my weight two years ago," said the group's leader Ina Johnson. "I stay for the support. This is a support group."

Johnson explained that the group offers a combination of programs that teach about food, particularly calories and fat content, and exercise while offering support and incentives to help members stay focused. "There are diet sheets that you fill in yourself and keep track of," said Johnson. "This gives you an idea of the areas where you can cut your diet to help lose weight."

One of the incentives is a bracelet that is presented when the first 10 pounds are lost. From there, members can earn charms for the bracelet by achieving other goals. "You can set a weight goal, and give that to the recorder," said Johnson. "Your doctor must approve the weight goal and say that would be good for you."

She continued, "We do weigh in, but the only ones who know your weight are you and the weight recorder, and the weight recorder's assistant. We may talk about who lost or gained, but never the specifics."

TOPS meets weekly on Wednesday nights at the Antioch Senior Center at 817 Holbek. Weigh-ins start at 6:30, and the meeting begins at 7 p.m. "The meetings last about one hour," said Johnson. "Sometimes we go a little over if we do exercises at the end. We have to keep moving."

The cost to join is $20 per year that goes to the main office in Milwaukee to cover the cost of the TOPS magazine and the programs. "Each club has its own membership dues," Johnson added. "Ours are $1 per week. We aren't doing this to make money."

"We have a great book called 'The Choice Is Yours' that has recipes and exercises," said Johnson. "It gives you lideas of how to lose weight, and there is a food exchange in the back. It shows you how to trade off foods you don't like for the ones you do, so you aren't stuck with something you can't eat."

For more information, call Johnson at 395. 6437, or stop by the Senior Center on a Wednesday night.

2000 Holiday Lights winners

The Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry announce the winners of its 2000 Holiday Lights contest.

Chamber gift certificates that can be used for goods and services around Antioch were awarded to first place winner Tom Hausman, second place winner Lee Shannon and third place winner Jerry Ouper.

Honorable mentions went to Ken Wolf, Chaz and Char Clarey, Tim Nixon, the Puders and James Dawson.

Illinois First funds secured

Gov. George Ryan announced he is releasing $1.6 million in Illinois First funding for projects in Lake County, including $115,000 that was initiated by Rep. Timothy Osmond (R-Antioch) for the 62nd legislative district.

Of that money, $10,000 will go to Emmons Grade School Dist. 33 in Antioch to purchase new classroom computer equipment to fulfill the goals of its technology plan.

Resources available to ease home heating costs

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

State Rep. Tim Osmond (R-Antioch) joined 10th District Congressman Mark Kirk (R-Wilmette) and state Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) in explaining the changes in the eligibility level for the federally funded Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP).

"With record cold temperatures and the cost of heating our homes too high, we must do all we can to help low-income and fixed-income families in our communities," said Kirk. "The federally-funded LIHEAP program will provide some relief from high energy costs and help keep families warm through the winter months."

LIHEAP funds are distributed to states in the form of block grants. In Illinois, LIHEAP is operated by a network of local agencies that work with utilities, determine eligibility and provide benefits.

"Through house bill 50, more people are eligible for this assistance," said Osmond.

Legislation by the General Assembly has raised the eligibility level for participation in LI-HEAP from 125 percent of the federal poverty level to 150 percent of the poverty level. Under the new guidelines, a one-person household can have a monthly income of no more than $1,044 compared to $870 under the previous guidelines. A family of four can have an income of no more than $2,130 compared to $1,776.

Applicants will be notified within 30 days of eligibility and the amount of assistance they are qualified to receive. The benefits go directly to the utility, or to the fuel dealer for households that heat with fuel oil or propane.

Applications are available at the LIHEAP office within the Avon Township building at 433 E. Washington. The phone number is 740-2115. The toll free number to the Energy Information Line of the Illinois Dept. of Commerce and Community Affairs is 800-252-8643.

During a later interview, Osmond provided information about efforts made by Nicor Gas to help all consumers.

According to a written statement, Nicor intends to institute a permanent, 12-month budget to allow customers the immediate opportunity to manage natural gas bills. Details of this plan will be filed with Illinois Commerce Commission (ICC) by no later than Feb. 1.

Under this plan, customers will be able to defer the costs of their high winter bills over the course of the year. It is an expansion of Nicor's CPP (convenient payment plan).

In addition to this new 12-month budget plan, Nicor has increased the eligibility level in its sharing program for those earning up to 200 percent of the poverty level. This increase was formalized in the wake of the action by the Illinois General Assembly to raise the eligibility for the LIHEAP program to 150 percent of the poverty level. A one-time grant of $325 will help those qualifying pay their gas bills.

For more information, go Nicor's web site located at www.nicor.com.

Sergeant decorated with meritorious service medal

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

Staff Sgt. Michelle P. Zaballa has been decorated with the meritorious service medal for her tour of duty in Kaiserslautern, Germany where she worked as a parachute rigger.

The medal is awarded to members of the U.S. armed forces who distinguish themselves with outstanding non-combat achievement or service to the United States. Zaballa has been in the army for nine years in regular, active duty.

Zaballa is back in the United States and is an instructor assigned to the Headquarters Company in Ft.

She is the daughter of Antioch residents Robert and Janet Zaballa. Her father said, "We are very proud of Michelle, of course. We haven't seen her in about three years because she's been in Germany. We are going to visit with her in February."

Robert Zaballa added, "We" weren't living here when Michelle was in school. She graduated from Streamwood High, and she has an associates degree from Elgin Community College.

Petty school to host spelling bee

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

The W.C. Petty elementary school has been chosen to host section III of a countywide spelling bee co-sponsored by the Lake County Regional Office of Education and the Chicago Tribune. There will be three sectional competitions within Lake County, and determined by location. The competition for section III will take place on Feb. 20 with an official practice round at 6:30 and the bee at

Students are preparing with a classroom spelling bee the winner of which (and an alternate) will compete against the other 18 classroom winners to represent the school at the sectional.

"Students from fourth through eighth grade will be competing in the sectional," said Henning (Petty has only fourth and fifth-graders). "That means a fourth grader could be competing against an eighth-grader."

Petty's school-wide spelling bee will be held on Feb. 2.

Local student chosen to compete in national award program

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

Community School (ACHS) Lauren Reynolds has been nominated by the high school's principal James Love to compete in the national Principal's Leadership Award (PLA) scholarship program.

Of those nominated, 150 national PLA winners will be chosen this spring to receive $1,000 scholarships. "There is a lot of competition for these scholarships," said Love. "Last year Jenn Kerner won one of the $1,000 scholarships, so we're optimistic that Lauren will be able to do it this year."

Principals in high schools throughout the country could nominate one of their student leaders. Nominees are selected based on their leadership skills, participation in service organizations and clubs, achievements in the arts and sciences, employment experience and academic record in addition to a written essay.

"I chose to nominate Lauren because she is a valuable leader in our school," said Love. "In addition to being involved in a lot of sports and activities, there are two things that she participates in that made my decision. First, she participates in the Old-fashioned fun can cure winter blues

Partnership for Educational Growth that gathers input from the community including our students. Second, She created an outreach program with Emmons Grade School, where she went before coming here, and has been teaching junior high aged students German on her own after school."

Herff Jones, Inc. funds the PLA program that is sponsored by the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP).

"Reynolds demonstrated exemplary achievement in her academic work and service to her school and community," said Gerald N. Tirozzi, NASSP executive director.

The Antioch Lower Grade School PTO will host its annual fun fair on Feb 3 from 11 a.m.-3 p.m. in the gymnasium of the school. The fun begins when the doors open with games such as wheel of fortune, fishing for prizes, a sucker tree, a guessing jar, the duck game, a treasure hunt where participants feel for hidden prizes, and various games requiring accurate throwing skills including the football, basketball and snowman throw.

Six different crafts will be offered including making "Gak" that is said to be similar to some of the Nickelodeon goos.

New this year is a magician, John Measner, who will perform two shows. The show lasts about 45 minutes. The first show is scheduled at noon, and the second at 1:30 p.m. The fair is open to the public. Admission is free, but tickets are sold

The big game day

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

Lynn Pringle

cli Sunday is Super Bowl Sunday and the testosterone gender will gather in living rooms, family rooms and home theaters all across the country to hoot and holler for a bunch of men in funny pants and shoulder pads. This is the game where the two best teams battle for the big title and the chance to wear an oversized, specially designed, gaudy Super Bowl ring. This is the only celebration that takes place in our homes that we actually plan the main course for game time.

Usually with any occasion that falls on a Sunday during football season, the hostess has to scramble to be sure the entree' is ready to serve at either half time or between the early game and the late game unforeseen overtimes sends the whole schedule in the toilet. The food fare for Super Bowl Sunday is usually simple, basic, man food: sub sandwiches, chili, or beef sandwiches, potato chips, and beer.

Oh, you might find some cocktail wieners or barbecue meatballs in a crockpot, but usually there is nothing on the menu that requires eating utensils. Who can be bothered with civilities like forks and knives; besides if the game takes a turn for the worse do we really want these adrenal pumping machines armed? This is serious business, and wives please don't pick this day to show any interest in the game. This is not the time to ask a lot of questions unless it's, "does anyone else need a beer."

You might want to just sit back and enjoy the half time show and hold your comments until a later date. Much pomp and circumstance is made over the commercials aired during game time and some folks just watch the event strictly for the advertisements. Many stars have been discovered during their 30-second shot at fame—just ask "Bud, Wise and Er."

These games generate big money above and beyond the high price of a 30-second commercial. True football fans will bet on anything slightly related to the game. Not only do they gamble on the obvious things like who will win, they actually publish odds on who will score first, which direction the wind will be blowing, and how many woman in the stadium will resort to using the men's bathroom because the line to the ladies rooms is too long. And who doesn't get sucked into participating in the office football pool? For a slight donation you put your name on a square for the chance to win some pretty pennies. Come game time our loyalties lay not with our favorite team but with the team that will make us the most money on our football pool? But don't get your hopes up because the odds are always in favor of Cosuelo, the night time cleaning lady who knows very little English and even less about football—she always comes up the winner.

So come Sunday, put on your prettiest dress and sit down with the boys in front of the TV for an evening of stomping. pounding and armchair quarterbacking. And if the door bell rings, and the friends from Publisher Clearinghouse are standing on your doorstep, just step out, close the door quietly behind you and send hubby a postcard from Tahiti. And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle."

Readers with information for "Jingle" from Pringle" should call Lynn Pringle at 395-6364.

ANTIOCH

Renae A. Eaton, 26, of 10715 255th Ave. in Trevor, Wis., was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol on Jan. 22 at 1:02 a.m. at Trevor Rd. and North Ave.

Police observed a red Chevy weaving within its lane and the cross over the centerline. The vehicle then turned onto westbound North Ave. and drove on the shoulder gravel as it did so.

Eaton was unable to provide police with a driver's license or proof of insurance, and told the officer she did not have either with her. While speaking with Eaton, police detected the strong odor of alcoholic beverage on her breath. She failed the field sobriety tests requested of her.

Eaton's identifiers were checked through LEADS/SOS and came back with her having a suspended Wisconsin driver's license.

She was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Dept. where she was put through booking procedures and issued citations for two counts of improper lane usage, driving under the influence of alcohol, failure to wear a seatbelt, no valid driver's license and operating an uninsured vehicle. Eaton initially agreed to chemical testing, but then repeatedly refused when instructions were being given.

Valerie A. Everly, 45, of 23504 127th Place in Trevor, Wis., was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol on Jan. 21 at 2:37 a.m. on Main St. at Poplar Ave.

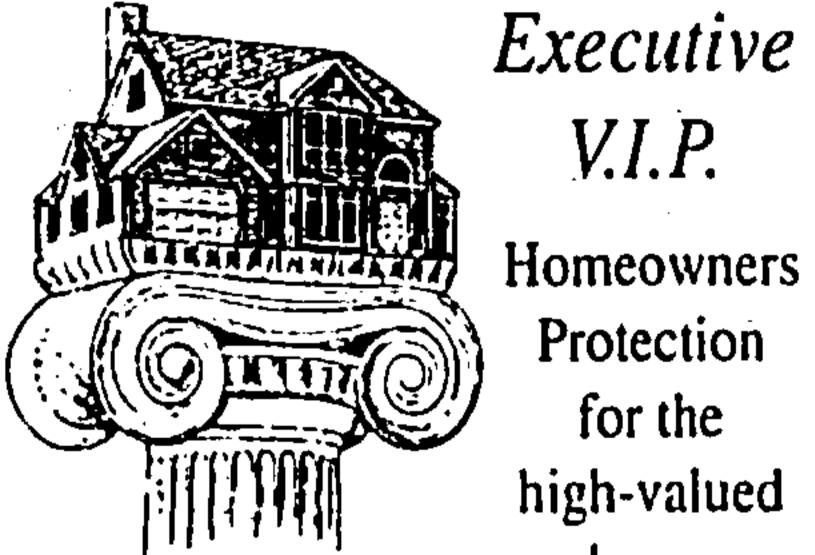

Police observed a red Jeep Wrangler traveling at a high rate of speed, and locked it at 54 mph in a posted 30-mph zone. As the vehicle drove past the squad car, its wheels were on the centerline of the road. The officer turned around to follow the vehicle and saw it swerve out of its lane and back.

While speaking with Everly, police detected the strong odor of alcoholic beverage on her breath. She was unable to successfully complete field sobriety tests.

She was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Dept. where she was put through booking procedures and issued citations for speeding, driving under the influence, two counts of improper lane usage, defective front windshield and not wearing a seat belt.

She refused all chemical testing, and was released on bond pending her Feb. 13 court date.

Gary F. Pease, 53, of 23315 81st St. in Salem, Wis., was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol and for driving with a revoked driver's license on Jan. 19 at 1:02 a.m. on North Ave. east of Tiffany Rd.

Police observed a tan Ford pickup cross over the yellow centerline. As the officer followed the vehicle, it was further observed that the vehicle was weaving within its lane. Police paced the car traveling 50 mph in a 40-mph zone.

The vehicle then failed to signal as it turned onto Morley Rd., and it entered the opposite lane of traffic. It then accelerated to a high rate of speed and attempted to turn onto Beach Rd. As it attempted the turn, the car slid off the shoulder of the road and into a ditch where it stopped.

The officer activated the squad car's emergency lights and pulled up behind the truck. As the officer exited, the Ford's reverse lights came on, the engine revved and the tires spun.

His identifiers were run through LEADS/NCIC with his license coming back as revoked.

He was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Dept. where he was put through booking procedures and issued citations for driving under the influence, improper lane usage, no valid driver's license, speeding, improper turn and failure to signal.

Pease refused all chemical testing. He posted $300 cash bond and was released pending his Feb. 20 court date.

Making the grade

efore this month, they had never met. But after the Mundelein-Antioch sophomore boys basketball contest last week, Mike Lynn and Matt Corning found out they had something in common - both played for Denny Porter's Lakeland Laker eighth-grade spring and summer basketball team.

Corning, a 6-foot, 1-inch freshman playing on the Mustangs sophomore team, was an excellent rebounder and great defender who averaged 11 points per contest last summer when the Lakers won a third consecutive AAU National title.

"Playing for Denny really got you in shape because it was all a transition game," said Corning after his team edged Lynn's Sequoits 54-43.

"Playing for the Lakers was a lot of fun. It made me stronger and faster."

Mike Lynn and

Matt Corning

To this point in the season, Corning has found his niche as one of the starting forwards. Presently, he is averaging 15 points per contest for the 9-3 Mustangs.

"We do a little bit of running and gunning," added Corning, who attended Fremont Middle School in Mundelein. "We're playing pretty well right now. We have nice balance."

In Porter's eyes, Corning's best attribute was his work ethic.

"He always arrived early. He was one of our top rebounders and defensive specialists and was very unselfish," said Porter.

Meanwhile, Lynn is a sophomore starting guard for the Sequoits. He played for the Laker AAU national championship two summers ago. While at Polombi grade school, Linn coached an AAU sixth-grade team and last fall, was a standout wide reciever who caught six touchdowns for the Sequoit sophomore football team.

"It's not like playing for the Lakers in that we slow it (the offense) down a little more," said Linn, averaging 12 points per game. "But playing for Denny and was a great experience because you played a lot of older kids. You were used to grabbing a rebound and you were off to the races."

Despite the run-and-gun offense of the Lakers, it was Linn's defense that stood out.

"He was a great man-to-man defender," said Porter. "He dove for loose balls all the time. He is also a great kid who'd help anyone out that had a problem."

To date, Lynn is averaging around 12 points per clip. Both Corning and Lynn have aspirations of playing varsity ball. Sounds like a safe bet.

 Speaking of the Lakers, Porter's program is presently searching for fifth through eighth-graders to tryout for the upcoming campaign.

The teams will represent Illinois at National Championship competition this spring and summer. Porter also said that the Lakers, upon conclusion of the current high school season, will also be fielding teams on the nith and 10-grade levels.

Dates have not been finalized but tryouts are slated for late-January and February. There is no cost to tryout. Teams will be limited to 10 players.

Anyone interested should contact coaches Reggie Johnson or Denny Porter at 838-1944 or Brian Davis at 223-1405.

 Three area bowlers will be inducted into the Lake County Bowling Association's Hall of Fame at its annual induction ceremony on Sun., Feb. 4. This year's event will be held at the Hotel Moraine, located at 700 North Sheridan Rd. in Highwood, IL.

This year's inductees include Anthony Cariello and William Graham for performance, and Robert English Jr. for meritorious service and performance on the lanes.

Tickets for this annual banquet are $25 per person and must be purchased in advance. To purchase tickets or for more information, please contact LCBA Hall of Fame Chairman Dario Frank at 782-7720.

It starts with educating, on all levels

By JOHN PHELPS Sports Editor

In today's society, the problem has reared its ugly head all the way down to the depths of the youth ranks.

How to conduct yourself at a sporting event, whether it be an official, participant, or merely a spectator. That was a key topic discussed at the Second Coaches Forum addressing violence in sports, sponsored by Lake County InTouch and held at The College of Lake County Jan. 22. The open forum consisted of panelist ranging from Illinois High School Association officials to local educators and coaches, on all levels.

"We're not going to cure this in one day," said Jeff Creek, Illinois High School Administration Specialist. "Hopefully there will be more of these seminars so we can continue curbing the problem."

The problem being the relationship and dynamics that most often occur between a coach and player. Or furthermore, the relationship between spectators (i.e. parents) towards officials and coaches if there is a bad call or their child is not getting enough playing time.

"It goes beyond the playing fields today," said Antioch High School Student Assistance Program Coordinator Tim Noonan. "It's become a problem that needs to be addressed by the community."

Education for all involved seemed to be the common solution. Perhaps, a little anger management for those irate spectators and coaches wouldn't hurt. Parents also need to step in and censor what their children are watching on television.

If two technical fouls are called on a coach, the IHSA suspends that coach for one game.

"I think this is sends a great message to the coaches and his or her players," said IHSA Official Jim Bernardi. "What if the next game is for the conference title? It makes everyone think about what position their actions will put them in. But it all comes back to educating on all levels."

On the local level, many organizations have implemented programs and zero tolerance policies for parents and their children, such as the Lake County Atoms Youth Hockey Organization. Parents and their children must read, agree and sign before their child can participate.

"The state can only do so much," added Bernardi. "Area leagues need to take control. Backing the officials is a good start. They're human and make mistakes. It doesn't give an upset fan the right to go and harass them."

Vernon Hills Park District has also started a program geared towards sportsmanship.

"We're going to begin with baseball," said Lee Volpe, Superintendent of Recreation. "At least one of the child's parents are required to participate in the program. It primarily deals with a parents responsibility and overall sportsmanship."

The indirect ramifications of inappropriate behavior, especially regarding officials and irate spectators, could have a drastic effect as

Speaking of officials, there is a shortage of IHSA officials because of harassment.

"Seventy-five percent of the IHSA officials are 25 years-and-older," said Tom Kinkelaar, an IHSA official for 47 years. "The younger one's don't want to get involved. They're being driven away. And someday, if this problem of abuse continues to them, organizations are going to have to cancel a lot of their contests. It's going to end up hurting the kids."

Much more can be said and discussed on these very topics. A third forum was highly encouraged. Details have not been ironed out yet.

"If we touched any of you in the audience, tonight's forum was a huge success because now you have some ammunition for countering the problem," said Mike Babicz, forum coordinator and IHSA official.

Sequoits Hall of Fame welcomes two more

Former Antioch standout student-athletes Rick Nelson and John Kakacek were the latest to join an illustrious group, 15 to be exact, as part of the school's Hall of Fame.

The ceremonies took place prior to Antioch's varsity wrestling dual meet with Grant Jan. 18.

"When you look at the wall and what these people have accomplished, from the high school to professional levels, it is truly an elite group of people," said ACHS Athletic Director Steve Schoenfelder.

The first inductee was Rick Nelson, who joins his father Roy.

Rick was a team captain and either a conference champion or all-conference in football, wrestling and track while at ACHS. He began his college career at the United States Coast Guard Academy where he was a member of the freshman football team and was an NCAA National Qualifier in wrestling.

After transferring to Western Illinois University, Rick won three varsity letters and was a two-time wrestling captain and voted MVP of the Leathernecks.

He had numerous impressive tournament finishes, including a fifth-place at the Midlands Wrestling Tournament. He also earned NCAA College All-American status twice after taking sixth place in 1974 and second place in 1975.

Presently, Rick is a life insurance broker in Lake Forest and has testified before the United States House of Representatives Judiciary Committee and the United States Senate Judiciary Committee on anti-trust issues.

Meanwhile, Kakacek was an All-County defensive back and outstanding wrestler for the Sequoits. He was also an outstanding student and was co-salutatorian at ACHS in 1977.

John went on to the University of Illinois where he won two varsity letters in wrestling. He continued his outstanding academic record being bestowed with numerous scholarships and awards, including the 1981 Big Ten Medal of Honor.

John graduated from the U of I Law School in 1984 and is a practicing lawyer in Chicago and Antioch. He has also been very involved in various community groups, including the Antioch District 34 Educational Foundation and Antioch Lions' Club.

Both received plaques to commemorate their induction's.

Nelson was unfortunately unavailable for the ceremony due to a last-second business engagement.

Lady Sequoits keep it close early before falling to Warren

By ROB BACKUS Staff Reporter

In their first game after a 10-day layoff, the Antioch varsity girls basketball team was eager to shake off the rust and play in an NSC Lake showdown with Warren.

However, they seemed a little eager at the outset as the Lady Sequoits missed three close shots on their first three possessions.

They could have easily been up 6-0 but instead found themselves down 7-1. They tied the game minutes later and were only down by one at 22-21 at the end of the first half. But missed shots plagued Antioch throughout the game.

Antioch wound up shooting 14-for-46 (30) percent) from the field as Warren pulled claimed its third straight win, a 55-46 decision.

The third quarter was the difference as the Lady Devils outscored Antioch 14-5.

"We know that we have an up and down offense," said head coach Don Zeman. "But our defensive pressure wasn't there in the third quarter and that was the difference."

The Lady Sequoits received strong inside play from Erica Brown (team-high 10 points, five rebounds), Shelley Wolfgram (six points, team-high 11 rebounds) and Justine Sinkus (six points, 10 rebounds).

"We got good post play but we just missed some shots we usually make," said Zeman.

Up next for Antioch is two games with NSC Prairie opponents Wauconda and North Chicago.

"We're not going to dwell on the loss," said Zeman. "We're just going to get back in the saddle and hopefully put together a win streak."

The Lady Sequoits will play Wauconda at home on Jan. 25 before traveling to North Chicago on Jan. 27.

"From the very beginning when I started teaching Jazzercise, it's been my goal to get all of my classes into one location," said Anna Soria, a certified Jazzercise instructor for more than 13 years.

For four years Soria's classes have been split between space at Antioch Community High School (ACHS) and various other locations. "I was so lucky that ACHS let me get started there. They were great to me," said Soria. "I owe my success here in Antioch to the high school and to the Antioch (parks and) recreation department. They were very supportive of the program."

All 10 of Soria's Jazzercize classes will now be held at the Dairy Barn that is located on North Ave. just east of Rte. 83 (between it and Deep Lake Rd.). "I can get 100 people in there exercising," Soria added. "It's about 5,000 square feet. We took a couple hundred feet for childcare, but there is a lot of room."

Classes are offered Monday through Friday at 9:15 a.m. and on Saturday at 8:15 a.m. Evening classes are offered at 7 p.m. on Monday through Thursday. "I can offer classes all day long," Soria said. "Realistically, people will participate at these times."

Childcare is offered at the facility for the morning classes. "The cost for childcare is very reasonable. It's only $1 per child. Mom's can get out and exercise and the hour for them," said Soria. "People won't exercise if it's not both convenient and reasonably priced."

Soria offers the first class for free to prospective students. She said, "People need to be able to try it without having to make a big commitment."

Beginning Jan. 13, a promotion begins called "get into fitness now." Through this program, newcomers who are referred by a current student can get a 10 week package for $60. The student who offered the referral becomes part of a drawing for a grand prize of $750, a prize offered to Jazzercise schools throughout the state, or a prize through Soria's school of one year free membership.

"The person's name goes into the drawing once for getting some to come and try the free class, and a second time if that student signs up for the program," said Soria. "Ten weeks for $60 is a really good deal for those coming into the program. Prices normally range from $33-$43 per month."

Soria has been a certified Jazzercise instructor for over 13 years. She is also certified through the American Council on Exercise (ACE) as well as CPR certified. She is a member of the International Dance and Exercise Association (IDEA) and the American College of Sports Medicine (ACSM).

For more information call Soria at 838web site at visit the www.jazzercise.com.

My family consists of: Wife Donna, sons Jason, 28, Morgan, 20, Doug, 18 and daughter Deidre, 24.

My pets are: "Little"—our attack toy poodle

What I like best about Lake Villa and Lindenhurst: The sense of community and the high degree of involvement parents have in their children's education.

What I like best about my job: I get to be around kids and people who are dedicated to kids.

The secret to my success is: I make decisions based on the best possible information available—keeping in mind that the kids come first—and I surround myself with the best possible talent available.

I relax by: Playing golf and attending my kids' sporting events and activities.

My perfect day in Lake Villa/Lindenhurst would be: If every bus arrived . exactly on time, every employee was at work, every student was at school, there were no disciplinary problems and there was a windfall of $20 million from the state of Illinois.

Last book I read: "The Bear and the Dragon" by Tom Clancy

Favorite TV show is: "E.R."

Favorite movie is: "The Principal" with Jim Belushi

Favorite music: My tastes are eclectic. I like Bach and Beethoven, and also Fleetwood Mac music from the '50s-'90s.

Favorite restaurant: DiMarco's in Antioch. Great Italian food! My life's motto is: "Don't take yourself too seriously."

If I could be anyone in history I would be: Abraham Lincoln

If I won the lottery, I would: Make sure my kids were taken care of, make significant donations to education and the church and live comfortably.

ver been in a bind where you couldn't afford that Prescription or perhaps a visit to the cardiologist? Well, there's hope, and help, for that matter. Recognizing these problems for people who can't afford such medical and health benefits is exactly why the HealthReach Clinic in Waukegan was established in 1992.

"There was a gap in medical services," said HealthReach Chief Operating Officer, Dr. Richard Keller. "HealthReach started as a collaboration between Victory and St. Therese Medical Center. They recognized the need for additional medical care. That got me involved."

But Keller was already involved and is no stranger to the field. Before joining HealthReach in June 2000, Keller worked in the emergency room at St. Therese.

"There was a need for extra assistance for those individuals who were falling through the cracks," said Keller, a graduate from the medical school at the University of Nebraska.

The formation of HealthReach would not be possible if not for the help of several area physicians, nurses, clerical personnel volunteers and the community.

Since 1992, HealthReach has cared for thousands of Lake County residents each year. To qualify for HealthReachs' services, the primary requirement deals with the federal poverty line where patients falling below it qualify.

For example, a typical family of four with an annual income of $17,000 or below qualifies for services. For a single person, the federal poverty line is approximately $8,350, while for a single parent with one child, the line is $11,250. A single parent with two children qualifies if the annual income falls

"It's a pretty wide range," said Keller. "A lot of the clients we service actively work. But we do have many that are physically restricted. One of our homeless clients suffered from seizures and couldn't access his medicine. That's where we citizens," Keller continued. "Some of the elderly are physically unable to get through Medicare forms. They then come to HealthReach has a variety available.

"Most of our physicians are volunteer," said Keller. "We've beefed up our pediatric services. Our spectrum is pretty diverse but we're working on obtaining other services in the not to distant future."

Services currently offered by HealthReach include medications, preventive health care, women's health care services, on-site specialty health care (psychiatry, cardiology, orthopedics) and patient education programs, to name a few.

"We're also working on getting a chiropractor," said Keller.

By JOHN PHELPS Sports Editor

Keller said that the clinic has no access to dental or vision care. "With a county as diverse as this, we would like to ultimately provide services on in all categories."

HealthReach provides medical care in its facility. If needed, the clinic will refer a patient to a physician at Victory, St. Therese or the MRI Institute of Lake County for further assistance.

"Some of the doctors we use outside of the clinic only allow us to send them a certain amount of patients per month," said RN and Clinic Coordinator Pat Goodman, who has been with HealthReach since opening nine years ago.

"We have some specialty doctors that come in. We also provide patients with the necessary medicines. But it's nice

The success of HealthReach is only as good as its staff, which consists mostly of volunteers. The actual paid in-house staff amounts to only about 10 percent.

"We have a lot of remarkable people working here for nothing or next to nothing in this type of work," added Goodman. "Most of our staff is bilingual. Everyone here is really open and friendly. It's not your typical 'clinic' atmosphere. It's like a regular doctor's office. We schedule appointments, follow-up visits and the patient get to see (most of the time) the same doctor, just like you would a regular family physician. These people deserve the treatment anyone visiting a regular doctor's office would. That's a credit to the staff."

One of the many important pieces of HealthReach's operation is Liza Johnson. Johnson, currently a student at Barat College in Lake Forest, is a Development Associate for the clin-

"I like Barat because of their sociology and community service program. They do a good job of being actively involved in students that want to pursue non-for-profit work. And most people get into non-for-profit work because they see a need for change and they want to help. I saw the need for HealthReach. It's satisfying that you can help expose services for people who are in need of them."

For its excellence in service, HealthReach was presented with the 'Points of Light' recognition last fall. The Points of Light Award, a national award originating from Washington, D.C., is awarded for engaging more people more effectively in volunteer community service that assist in helping with vari-

SPECIAL EVENT

A 'man of honor' to speak

eet the inspiration behind the top-rated movie "Men of Honor," and hear the extraordinary story of Master Chief Boatswain's Mate Carl M. Bras-hear, U. S. Navy (Retired), in a special presentation at Naval Training Center, Great Lakes.

Brashear, the first African-American Master Diver in the U.S. Navy, will appear on Sunday, Feb. 4, from 3-6 p.m., as part of the annual Profiles in Excellence: African-American History in Lake County program. The program is sponsored by the Lake County Forest Preserves' Greenbelt Cultural Center and Naval Training Center Great Lakes.

Brashear was born into a sharecropping family in Kentucky. In 1948, at age 17, he joined the Navy and completed his basic training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes. That same year, President Truman desegregated the U.S. military.

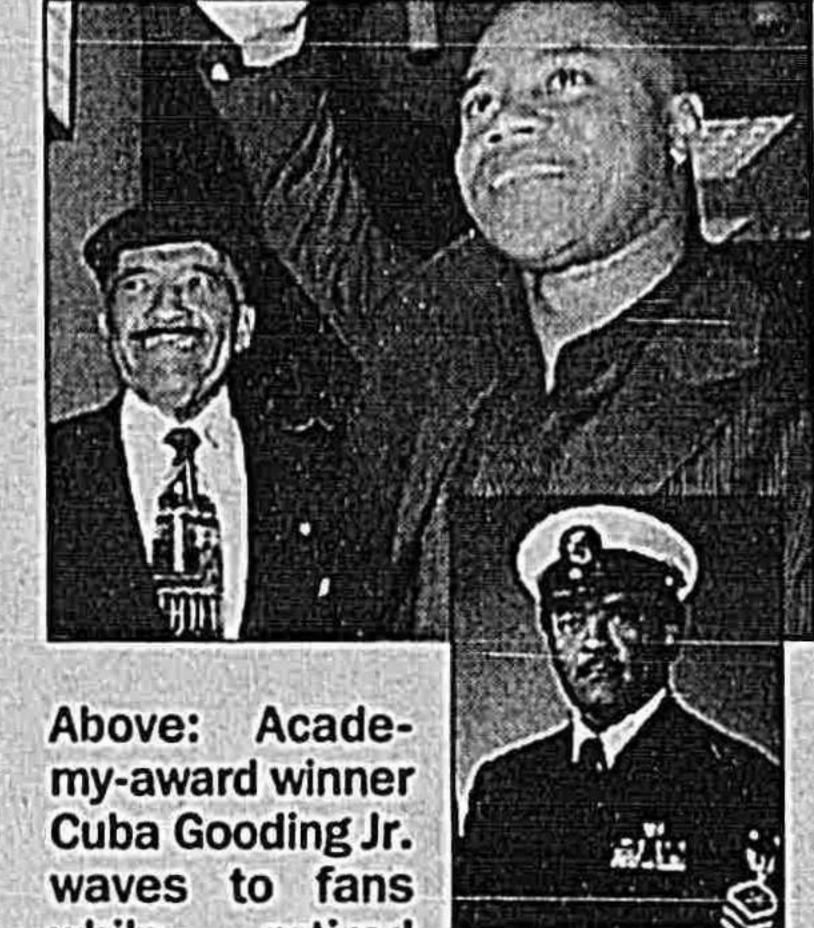

During this time, African-Americans in the Navy were routinely assigned to only menial tasks, but Brashear was determined to become a diver. With great courage and a strong will, he overcame resistance from his officers, the disadvantages of his eighth grade education and threats of violence to achieve his goal.

In 1966, Brashear lost half his leg while recovering a nuclear warhead from the Mediterranean Sea. Despite officers' insistence that he retire, Brashear persevered and earned his Master Diver certificate. This honorable achievement made Brashear the first African-American to become a Navy Master Diver, the highest rank a diver can attain.

As keynote speaker, Brashear will share his inspirational story as part of a presentation that also includes musical and dramatic performances by the Great Lakes Navy Band, the Christian Valley Children's Choir and local high school bands and choirs. To celebrate Brashear's achievement, a special diving exhibit will also be on display.

This special event will be held in Ross

Auditorium at the Naval Training Center Great Lakes. To get to the Center, take Buckley Rd., (east on Rte. 137) to Sheridan Rd. Turn right (north) at the light to the main entrance. The gate guard will direct you to Ross Auditorium.

Volo Bog honors volunteers

Thirty dedicated individuals were recently honored for their volunteer services at Volo Bog State Natural Area in the year 2000. Along with 28 other volunteers, they contributed over 3,400 hours to the unique Illinois Department of Natural Resources site located in Ingleside.

Special recognition was given to Richard Wend of Spring Grove in Lake County as Volo Bog's Volunteer of the Year for 2000. Site Superintendent Greg Behm and Interpretive Program Coordinator Stacy Miller presented Wend with a Volunteer of the Year plaque, a Certificate of Appreciation and the site's Centurian award which is given to all volunteers contributing over 100 hours for a given year.

The following Lake County residents received certificates from the Illinois Department of Natural Resources/Volo Bog State Natural Area for contributing 50-99 hours each to Volo Bog in 2000: Debbie Grymkoski, Round Lake; Kay Hedum, Island Lake; Mike Landers, Grayslake; Kitty Seim, Lakemoo; and Jan Wemple, Ingleside.

In addition to certificates, the following also received Centurian Award plaques for contributing over 100 hours each in 2000: Bill Ewert and Kris Fitzsimmons of Ingleside; Joan Hall, Grayslake; John Holmes and Billie Kocal of Antioch; Merry Miller and Jim Shook of Round Lake.

Volunteers contribute in numerous ways to the programming and general operations at Volo Bog State Natural Area. Trained volunteer naturalist lead tours of Volo Bog for individuals and small groups on Saturdays and Sundays at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. Youth program naturalist lead environmental education programs including Bog Life tours for over 3,000 school children each year. Others lead bird walks, astronomy sessions and special workshops.

Without such a diverse group of dedicated individuals, Volo Bog would be able to offer only a fraction of its present programs and services. The staff of Volo Bog State Natural Area wish to express their sincere thanks and appreciation to a devoted group of special people: Volo Bog Volunteers.

Local host families needed for exchange students

orld Heritage, a non-profit, public benefit organization, is seeking local host families for high school boys and girls from Spain, Mexico, France, Germany, Thailand, Brazil, Japan and the NIS (Newly Independent States of the former Soviet Union) coming to this area for the upcoming school year. These personable and academically select exchange students speak English, are bright, curious and eager to learn about this country through living as part of a family and attending high school. This is a wonderful opportunity to share in the fostering of intercultural friendships.

The exchange students arrive from their home country shortly before school begins and return at the end of the school year. Each World Heritage student is fully insured, brings his or her own personal spending money and expects to bear his or her share of household responsibilities, as well as being included in normal family activities and lifestyles. At the same time, the student will be teaching their newly adopted host family about their own culture and language. The students are well-screened and qualified by World Heritage. Families may select the youth of their choice from student applications, photo collages and biographical essays. Once paired, students and families are encouraged to begin corresponding prior to the small group runs such a big operation. It gave us some local notice. When look at some of the other award winners, pretty nice to be included. And it's largely due in part to Dr. Keller's commitment as well as our staff of volunteers and the medical community."

With regards to the monetary side of things, HealthReach is funded by grants from corporations, community and philanthropic organizations, individual donations, governmental grants and patient contributions.

The clinic is planning its HealthReach Community Care Clinic 'Chefs Cuisine' Benefit at Midlane Country Club in Wadsworth April 8.

Numerous renown area chefs offering their specialties will be featured. Greens fees for golf will also be included in the ticket price.

"It's a benefit that originated through Victory Hospital until we took it over," said Johnson. "We're excited because it targets everyone. This will be the first fund-raising benefit that HealthReach will be sponsoring."

Details are still being ironed out but mailings for the event will be sent out in February.

Anti-Cruelty Society issues cold weather warnings

s winter sweeps in, The Anti-Cruelty Society would like to remind people that cold weather presents special dangers to their pets.

Most dogs and cats cannot endure the cold of winter for more than a few minutes, despite their fur coats. An animal left outdoors can get frostbite or even freeze to death in a matter of minutes. Signs of frostbite include pale skin that is cool to the touch and has decreased sensation. If frostbite is suspected, the area should be gently thawed with warm (not hot) water. The animal should then be taken to a veterinarian.

The Anti-Cruelty Society strongly recommends that cats remain inside away from the dangers of the street and the cold. During frigid temperatures, dogs should be brought outside for shorter periods of time than usual.

During dog walks, owners should watch for jagged ice patches and sidewalk salt. Both can be hazards to a dog's footpads. Paws should be thoroughly checked and any salt or ice should be wiped off with a damp towel immediately after coming in from a walk.

To report abuse or neglect of animals, including animals left outside without proper shelter, call The Anti-Cruelty Society at (312) 644-8338.

Ten free flowering trees from Arbor Day Foundation en free flowering trees will be given to each person who joins The National Arbor Day Foundation during January 2001.

The free trees are part of the nonprofit Foundation's Trees for America campaign.

The ten trees are two each of the following: white flowering dogwood, flowering crabapple, flowering pear, Washington hawthorn and American redbud.

"These compact trees were selected for planting in large or small spaces," John Rosenow, the Foundation's president, said. "They will give your home the beauty of lovely pink, white and yellow flowers – and also provide winter berries and nesting sites for songbirds."

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting between February 1 and May 31 with enclosed planting instructions. The six to 12-inch trees are guaranteed to grow or they will be replaced free of Members also receive a subscription to the Foundation's bimonthly publication, "Arbor Day," and "The Tree Book" with information about tree planting and care.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, send a $10 contribution to "Ten Free Flowering Trees," National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Ave., Nebraska City, NE 68410, by Jan. 31.

Don't let the subtitles scare you—the hidden dragon is worth finding movie as beautiful and masterfully done as "Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon" is worth breaking one's own rules to go see. Whether the rule is against movies with subtitles, action flicks, martial arts movies, love stories, romantic tragedies or driving farther than the nearest theater to see something on the big screen - break the rule and make an exception for this one.

The folktale-like story seamlessly blends martial arts, action and romance into a balanced movie with enough detail to keep specific genre lovers interested throughout.

Though the movie is subtitled, the plot is not particularly dialogue driven. The chemistry between characters makes it unnecessary to develop their relationships, and would add nothing to the spectacular fight scenes that relate more closely to dance than violence. The movie is so splendid visually, that one could opt not to read a single word and be perfectly entertained.

In the story, Chow Yun-Fat plays a retiring Wudan warrior named Li Mu Bai who is a living legend for the skill he displays with the Green Destiny sword, a force in and of itself, and passed down to him by movie review his master. He entrusts the sword to his lifelong friend Shu Lien (Michelle Yeoh) when he makes his plans to retire known to her.

When the sword is stolen, Li Mu Bai is forced to change his plans and confront his an old enemy, Jade Fox (Cheng Pei Pei) responsible for his master's death and whom he promised to avenge. Shu Lien's sworn sister Jen Yu's (Zhang Zi-Yi) entanglement in the situation leads to confrontation between the two women, resulting in the movie's best fight scenes.

Though Li Mu Bai and Shu Lien largely repress the deep feelings they have for one another, Jen Yu finds love with a rebel warrior, Lo (Chang Chen), as both are driven by strong wills, stubbornness and a desire to be independent. They fight and fall in love as they chase across the desert on horseback, both displaying incredible horsemanship in addition to martial arts abilities.

"Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon" is a folktale-like story that seamlessly blends martial arts, action and romance into a balanced movie with enough detail to keep specific genre lovers interested throughout.

fight scenes include flying, wall walking, and balancing atop thin, swaying tree branches. It is reported that computers were only used to erase out safety wires in these scenes, which adds an awkward realism to the action's grace particularly in the treetops.

The world's leading cellist Yo-Yo Ma, accompanied by ancientstyle Chinese drums provides the musical soundtrack. The moody, spiritual-sounding music perfectly punctuates the action and romance, further diminishing the need for dialogue and subtitles.

The movie provides a few good twists to keep the storyline from being too predictable, though certain aspects are well foreshadowed.

I have nothing remotely negative to say about this film. There are few movies that I like well enough to own, but I will anxiously await this one's availability for purchase. I not only think it is the best movie of the year, but the best movie of the decade.

I give this movie five popcorn boxes for its overall excellence.

Cancer - June 22/July 22

When it comes to a financial opportunity this week, Cancer, you need to take the initiative. Don't wait for someone to tell you what to do. Examine all of the pros and cons, and make your own decision. You know what is best. Loved ones will be impressed with your efforts.

Leo - July 23/August 23 Don't turn your back on a friend in need early in the week, Leo, even if this person has done things to hurt you in the past. You're the only one who can help with this situation. So, do what you can. Your efforts will go a long way in repairing this relationship. Capricom plays an important role.

Virgo - Aug 24/Sept 22 You're on the edge of your seat while waiting for that special someone to respond to an important question. Don't pressure this person to answer, that only will upset him or her. So, just be patient, and bide your time. A close friend turns to you for advice. Be honest with him or her.

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23 Keep your wits about you at work this week. The higher-ups are keeping something from you. Try to figure out what that is. Co-workers are counting on you to find out. A loved one needs your help planning a family get-together. Do what you can. Your efforts will be appreciated.

PM&L to present 'A Little Night Music'

New musical production opens Feb. 2

he captivating musical "A Little Night Music" by Sondheim and Wheeler opens at the PM&L Theatre, 877 Main St., Antioch, on Feb. 2 at 8 p.m. Continuing show dates are Feb. 3,9,10,16,17 at 8 p.m. and Feb. 4,11 and 18 at 2:30 p.m.

This gorgeous and successful musical is directed by Ken Smouse from Antioch and is sponsored by The State Bank of the Lakes. It is a wickedly lyric rondel, a romantic turn-of-the-century masquerade about three mismatched couples who, in the course of a limpid summer night, more or less stumble into perfect happiness.

They are a beautiful, worldly actress (Carrie Dabelow, Buffalo Grove), a foolish count (Randy Miles, Spring Grove), the count's jealous wife (Lori Jo Metz, Gurnee), the wife's school friend (Mary Hanks, Mundelein), whose much older husband (Mark Badtke, Genoa City, Wis.) loves the actress and whose son (Josh St. John, Antioch) loves his stepmother.

Looking on are the actress's elderly mother (Donna Badtke, Genoa City, Wis.), herself once a famous courtesan, and the actress's daughter (Jessica Smouse, Antioch), plus one lively pretty maid (Jennifer France, Mundelein) without whom no farce can be complete.

The all-important Quintet helps tell the story in song and dance (Alice Byrne, Lindenhurst; Suzanne Maginot, Antioch; Mary Campbell, Palatine; Greg Boyd, McHenry; and Murry Holmstrom, Bristol, Wis.). John Villareal, Zion, as Frid, Pam Browning, Lake Villa, as Malla and the Page complete the cast.

Reservations can be made by calling 395-3055 or by coming to the box office. Box office hours are Mon.-Thurs. 5:30-7:30 p.m., Sat. 11 a.m.-2 p.m. and 1 1/2 hours before curtain on show dates. Ticket prices are $10 for adults and $8 for students and seniors.

Home & Outdoor Living Expo has something for all

By JOHN KOSKI Managing Editor

The largest home show in Lake County makes a reappearance on Saturday, Feb. 3, and Sunday, Feb. 4, at the Lake County Fairgrounds (Routes 45 and 120) in Grayslake.

Last year, the Home and Outdoor Living Expo drew an estimated 10,000 attendees and featured 100 exhibitors. This year, the show promises to be even bigger. To date, more than 150 exhibitors have signed up, necessitating that the show expand to two buildings.

The show will feature a wide variety of products and services, including mald services, spas, saunas, gazebos, sun rooms, solar lights, security systems, waterproofing, landscape nurseries, flooring and carpeting, water systems, wireless communications, builders, banks and lenders.

Exhibitors will include well-established local businesses as well as businesses from Milwaukee, Rockford and the Chicago area. The show is produced by Homestar Productions and is co-sponsored by Lakeland Newspapers.

Hours are 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. on Saturday and 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Sunday. Admission is $3 for adults, children are free.

CLC to host job fair for former OMC employees

A job fair will be held from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m. on Jan. 31 at the College of Lake County's Lakeshore Campus in Waukegan to help the recently displaced employees of Outboard Marine Corp, which closed its facilities in Waukegan. The job fair is intended to assist workers transition back into the workplace.

Employers representing manufacturing, business, government and banking are scheduled to participate. OMC workers are advised to bring their resumes with them. The job fair is sponsored by OMC, the College of Lake County's Career and Placement Services dept., U.S. Rep. Mark Kirk's 10th District office, the Illinois Department of Employment Security, Lake County Partners and the Lake County Workforce Development Dept.

Employers interested n participating in the job fair may contact CLC's career and placement services at 543-2059.

County Board: Reducing traffic congestion number one priority

Officials will likely pursue 0.25 percent sales tax hike to expand and build new roads

By TIM FROEHLIG Staff Reporter

With driver frustrations growing over the ever-increasing traffic in the area, Lake County Board members have announced finding a solution to roadway congestion will be their number one priority for the future.

The news was announced in a presentation that was kicked off by County Board Chairman Suzi Schmidt, at a luncheon outlining the board's goals in the coming years.

Officials said roadway congestion will be the top priority, after a survey of 1,200 people (800 by phone, 400 via the Internet) showed 83.2 percent of Lake County residents felt traffic in the region is either "somewhat worse", or "much worse" than it used to be.

Additionally, the survey found 68 percent of those polled feel traffic limits their activities "somewhat," while 31.6 percent said they felt roadway congestion has limited their activities a "great deal."

Board members are hoping to garner sup-

New jail, branch court may become a reality

Qualified court interpreters who can speak various languages are also in high demand

By TIM FROEHLIG Staff Reporter

A rising population, tougher laws and increased arrests have prompted officials to consider the construction of a new jail and adult justice system in Lake County.

The news was announced by circuit judge Jane D. Waller, as she presented information to Lake County Board members, several state representatives and others, at a legislative initiatives luncheon.

The purpose of the luncheon was to outline several key proposals that the county board expects to act upon during the year 2001. According to those familiar with the area's judicial system, jail and courtroom overcrowding are serious concerns which will call for quick action on.

Waller said that she anticipates that the county government will get the green light to allocate $47.5 million for the construction of a fourth branch court, a new jail and other related spaces.

There are three specific areas which officials believe are responsible for an increased jail population and crowded court system: Tougher laws against drugs, driving under the influence and domestic violence.

From 1994 to 1998, the number of drug arrests in Lake County rose by 72 percent. During that same span, the average daily jail population of the county's jail rose from 371 to 543 people.

Although she said she was not challenging existing laws, Waller noted that 54 percent of these criminals had been booked for jailable offenses at least three times.

Lake County Clerk Willard Helander announced today that January 29, 2001 is the last day for Lake County residents to register to vote before the February 27, 2001 Consolidated Primary Election. Registration will only close for those residents eligible to vote in the Primary. Residents able to vote in the Consolidated Primary include registered voters residing in the City of North Chicago, City of Waukegan, Waukegan Community Unit School District #60, Libertyville Community High School District #128 and Warren Township High School District #121.

County residents may register or update their current registration at the County Clerk's office, 18 N. County St., Room 101, Waukegan, from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 8:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. on Friday. There are also other locations throughout Lake County where residents may register to vote including many libraries, schools, township and municipal offices.

"An individual must be 18 years old on or before the election in order to register. A voter who has changed his or her name prior to 28 days before the election must re-register. A voter who has moved within a precinct more than 28 days before the election or out of a precinct more than 30 days before the election must update his or her registration in order to vote," explained Helander.

Voter registration will re-open on February 29, 2001, two days after the Consolidated Primary in accordance with election law. Registration will close again on March 6th countywide for the April 3, 2001 Consolidated Election. For more information about how or where to register to vote, please call the County Clerk's office, Voter Registration Department, at (847) 625-7401.

Registration deadline nears | Applications available for absentee ballots

Lake County Clerk Willard Helander announced today that Applications for Absentee Ballot for the February 27, 2001 Consolidated Primary Election are now available at the County Clerk's office as well as at participating municipal and township offices in Lake County. Voters living in the City of North Chicago, the City of Waukegan, Waukegan Community Unity School District #60, Libertyville Community High School District #128 and Warren Township High School District #121 are eligible to vote in this election.

"In Illinois, absentee voting is restricted and under penalties provided by law, the voter must certify that he or she cannot be at the polling place on Election Day because of one of the reasons listed on the application," Helander said.

Voters may vote in person at the County Clerk's office beginning January 18th through February 26th during the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 8:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. on Fridays. The County Clerk's office is located on the first floor of the County Building at 18 North County Street, Waukegan. In addition, voters may vote by absentee ballot at municipal and township offices that contain districts participating in the Consolidated Primary beginning February 5, 2001.

A registered voter may also vote an absentee ballot by mail. A voter can request an Application for Absentee Ballot on the County Clerk's website at www.co.lake.il.us/cntyclk or by calling the Clerk's office at 360-5912. "The request for Application for Ballot was just introduced at the General Election last November as a new feature on our website. This request option has become extremely popular and has helped tremendously in streamlining our request process," stated Helander.

Once the signed Application for Ballot is returned, the Clerk's office will mail a ballot within 48 hours beginning January 18, 2001. For more information, contact the County Clerk's Absentee Department at 360-5912.

So how would officials fund these proposals to ease overcrowding? By continuing a tax levy for the debt service portion of the county's Public Building Commission lease. County officials said they would like to continue to levy this tax upon the retirement of outstanding bonds to provide a continuous cash flow for capital improvement projects, such as a new

There are other issues that have caught the attention of the county's judicial system as well. The number of cases being tried with people representing themselves instead of having an attorney do so has increased. Therefore, officials will likely propose an increase in cost of law library usage. By increasing fees associated with the use of the library, residents can expect to see more materials become available, a welltrained staff, and possibly increased hours in which the law library would remain open.

Another issue plaguing the court system is the lack of court interpreters. With a diverse population comes the need for those who speak different languages. Currently, the law mandates that any person who is a defendant in a court of law has the right to have a court interpreter translate for them if they do not speak english. However, with so many languages, these skilled individuals can be hard to come by.

"Those sources are scarce and they're expensive," commented Waller.

She noted that at times, court interpreters can will only work if they are guaranteed a two hour minimum, and even then, they can be very expensive.

"It's an issue and we need to solve it," Waller said.

The county board, because of the survey's findings, is recommending amending state statutes governing sales tax for public safety purposes, in order to pursue a referendum that will ask residents to support a 1/4 percent increase in sales tax.

It was also noted that those respondents living west of Interstate 94 are less satisfied with traffic conditions compared to those living east of the tollway.

Mitchell courting county travelers with convenience

Thile Illinois politicians grapple over the feasibility of building a third airport and Lake County residents grouse about traffic gridlock and ever increasing drive times to O'Hare Airport, officials of General Mitchell International Airport at Milwaukee are out to attract more travelers from northeastern Illinois.

Mitchell is an enticing alternative to O'Hare. Currently there are 220 daily departures with nonstop and direct service to more than 90 cities via its 17 airlines and one-stop connections to cities throughout the world.

The Wisconsin facility has it all over O'Hare in a couple of categories travelers value highly, easy access and inexpensive parking. Covered parking at Mitchell is only $8 per day. Airport officials boast of an easy 10-minute walk from the farthest space in the parking structure to the farthest gate. Outdoor parking ranges from $5 to $8 per day. The airport has one of the world's largest single-unit parking structures with 6,275 spaces. Mitchell has undergone $130 million in expansions and improvements in the past 15 years.

In stepping up their salesmanship, Mitchell officials recently did a drive-time study for various Lake County communities. They came up with 35 minutes for Antioch residents as compared to 65 minutes to O'Hare. For Gurnee residents, the trip to Mitchell was 40 minutes, 10 minutes less than O'Hare. From Libertyville, the drive time to both airports was an identical 45 minutes. From Mundelein, the drive to Mitchell was found to be only 10 minutes longer than the 40 minutes to O'Hare. Located just off Interstate 94 on the southeast side of Milwaukee County, Mitchell was found to be a 50-minute drive from the Lake Forest Oasis.

The clincher, from Mitchell's viewpoint, is a better on-time record than O'Hare.

If Lake Countians aren't convinced at this point, here's a couple of airport features that might turn the trick: Mitchell International offers the first airport Harley Davidson store and the nation's only Native American airport shop.

School board electors need to do homework

By Candance L Applehans

he time is nearing when members of every community in this county will be put to the task of voting for their local school board members.

Some of those on the ballot will be new to the challenge of running for the first time for a public office, while others will be incumbents. As history has proven itself time and time again, many of the voters have not taken the position of school board member seriously.

But, one just has to read local papers to see the dire straights that many of our schools are in this fast-growth county. What we all have to remember, is that our tax dollars, approximately one-half of our total tax bill, will be in the hands of these people about to be elected. Think about it; one half. And even more importantly, the use of these dollars for our children's education and how these dollars are distributed, is at stake.

Having lived in Grayslake for over a dozen years, I have seen this community go from a sleepy little village to a booming, over-developed town. I have seen a population explosion of 5,000 residents go to nearly four times that. And, as would be expected, many of these new residents have two or more children.

Because of the way our property taxes are recovered by the state, often times these children are being educated for up to two years before the school receives any money from these tax dollars. When you multiply this by hundreds of new students yearly, it approaches an alarming amount of money.

When I moved here, Woodview School was closed due to lack of enrollment. Now we are looking at building a third new school in just 12 short years. And the high school has purchased a new site for a second campus in the near future.

VIEWPOINT

Bush revives pride in 'Hail to the Chief'

hree years ago this column conducted a mini survey to learn what the Texas governor being mentioned as a leading candidate for president had to offer as our national leader.

Input received included a nationally syndicated columnist (college classmate), a Texas newspaper executive (trade association associate) and a Dallas businessman (relative who moved to the Lone Star state 25 years ago).

The sketch of Gov. George W. Bush they provided at that time is remarkably close to the picture that emerged as a candidate for the White House and election as the 43rd president of the United States.

In 1998, Bush was among five or six Republicans considered to have a shot at the GOP nomination. The just re-elected governor was described as approachable, a unifyer, holder of basic American values, a politician who gets things done, intelligent, witty, open to the ideas of others, holder of family values, consistent in his course of action and above all, and perhaps most importantly, a leader who has the self confidence to surround himself with persons of stature, character and demonstrated ability.

The quality of putting together a top-notch team has been a hallmark of George W. Bush throughout his career and shines brightest in the way he organized his cabinet to help govern our nation for the next four years. The "best ever" label already has been attached to the Bush cabinet, the predictable catcalls of liberals and Democrats notwithstanding.

With a president pledged to restore dignity and respectibility to the office. "Hail to the Chief" has meaning again.

Need thrift sites

Real estate scouts are searching for suitable quarters for two charitible thrift shops, a Blue Smock site in Grayslake for Condell Medical Center, and a new resale shop in Lake Villa to benefit Allendale School that would feature student handiwork.

Round Lake Park Mayor Ila Bauer is excited about a new "sister village" program being sponsored by the state. Round Lake Park will be teamed with a downstate community to exchange information and promote comradery among Illinois municipalities.

Utilities scored

Martin Cohen, executive director of the Citizens Utility Board (CUB), voiced little help during a visit last week to the county for householders dealing with back-breaking home heating bills. "Our choice is to pay or freeze," he said. Cohen scored utilities for clumsiness and heavy-handed pricing policies. He said CUB will litigate to require that natural gas utilities "buy right." Cohen pegged the cost to individual families of utility gas buying ineptness at $500 to $650 per year.

Time manager

Your reporter joins with family and friends mourning the death at 91 of Pauline Chard, a former local news columnist for Lakeland Newspapers. Mrs. Chard watched over a bustling family, was active in church, school and youth activities, belonged to a number of service organizations ~ and assisted in the civic duties of her husband, Warren, who was mayor of Grayslake. "With your busy schedule, how in the world do you ever find time to write a column?" we inquired once of Pauline who never missed a deadline. "Easy," she replied cheerily. "After being out and around, the first thing I do when I get home is sit down at my typewriter and write a few items that I just picked up." In reality, Pauline Chard never had to schedule time to write her column. The column was just "done" at deadline time and she turned it in. Pauline perfected time management before it was known to be a science.

Bill Shorts on a 1,000 mile mayor's walk—putting grassroots theory to test hen I started in politics many years ago, I did it the old-fashioned way," campaigning adoor-to-door, meeting people wherever and whenever I could.

The "political establishment" didn't want me, and I went out on my own. I will never forget a regular political party event where over 300 attended and, although I was a candidate, I wasn't invited. I went to it anyway because I felt as though I was as much a Democrat as everyone else in the room. When you start out as a grassroots campaigner, you usually never forget those roots and I like to think that I never did during my years of public service.

During all of my years in the Legislature, the city of Waukegan was a part of my district. My support there was always strong, and I believe that I returned it with a responsiveness to people's interests.

This year, Waukegan will hold a mayoral election. There is a contest in the Democratic primary election on Feb. 27, and the general election will be held on April 3, with a number of independents filing for mayor.

In my many years of politics, I have seen many win and lost public office. Most have been sincere in their efforts, but I have seen some phonies, too. Many work hard at trying to win office; others rely on their political party status to pull them through, and others are downright politically lazy, even some who win.

I have always believed that those who work the hardest to seek public office; in other words, those who run a grassroots, door-to-door campaign usually win and they usually become responsible and effective public servants.

One of the candidates running in the Waukegan Democratic primary election is Bill Shorts. Bar none, Bill shorts has run the best grassroots campaign that I have ever seen in Lake County.

- After he announced for mayor last May, he immediately started his person-to-person campaign. He started with a goal almost impossible to reach. He said that he would try to walk 1,000 miles through every part of Waukegan and he would try to make two round-trips of the homes of Waukegan. With a pedometer logging his mileage, he went out in every conceivable type of weather, the dog days of summer and the snowy days of this winter.

Bill Shorts is well over 800 miles of his "Waukegan Walk." He may not reach his goal; there are less hours of daylight in the winter and as he gets closer to election day, residents are spending more time at their doors. That's just fine with him because the people who he meets are the source of many of the ideas that he will put into operation if they have the confidence in him to elect him as their mayor.

He has indicated that what people want most is a government that communicates with them. They want a major who exhibits leadership. Shorts has said that he will hold regular town meetings across Waukegan to keep citizens abreast of what is going on in government. That initiative has come from his door-to-door campaign. When n the basis of the 2000 census, Lake County will be entitled to another legislative district.

Tussling expected over remap project

Along with education, State Rep.

Andrea Moore (R-Libertyville) predicts

Andrea Moore (R-Libertyville) predicts reapportionment—the process whereby districts are drawn—will be the priority topics in the newly convened General Assembly.

"It'll be a war," Moore declared.

Moore said the remap process involving members from both parties is designed to be fair and equitable. "But it never is," remarked Moore, who was elected a state representative after the last reapportionment in 1991. The arrival of an additional 125,000 residents is triggering need for another district.

Reapportionment always is a highly partisan proposition. Among casualties of past remap wars were the late Congressman Robert McClory, a Republican and State Rep. John Matijevich, a Democrat.

Accessible voice

Island Lake Mayor Chuck Amrich has a platform few mayors possess. As the proprietor of a service station, he's able to talk to friends and foes alike on a daily basis. That accessibility has helped propel Amrich to four consecutive terms. Now he's running for fifth term, still pretty far behind Gurnee Mayor Dick Welton, who's going for an eighth.

Widening help

Lincolnshire Mayor Barbara LaPiana won't be on the ballot April 3, but her influence is expected to be felt in the campaign for re-election of Trustee Tom Deloye. Both support plans to widen Rte. 22. Deloye faces tough opposition from Ruth Burandt, who is against highway improvement. Burandt lives in an eastern sector of Lincolnshire and has a Lake Forest address. A hold-over council member, Trustee Emlly Angonese has modified her opposition to widening Rte. 22. Angonese says she's open to negotiations with IDOT.

Angonese: Changing tune on Rte. 22.

Soto:
Mayor hosting village meeting after hours.

Knows money

By speaking out on city finances, Waukegan mayoral candidate Bill Shorts aims to blunt Treasurer Dan Drew's claim of being the most knowledgeable candidate on money matters in the Feb. 27 Democratic primary. Shorts has serious reservations about issuing up to $20 million in bonds for downtown renovation, since the city already about $39 million in bond debt. Shorts talks about money as he walks Waukegan neighborhoods. He just passed the 800-mile mark.

Loans for taxes

County Treasurer Bob Skidmore needs to hear from senior citizens interested in obtaining state loans to pay real estate taxes. Deadline is March 1. Homeowners age 65 or . older by June 1 with a household income of less than $25,000 are qualified.

Political tea

By acting fast, a reservation can be secured for the annual membership tea at 1 p.m. Monday, Jan. 29, sponsored by the Women's Republican Club of the 10th Congressional District. Congressman Mark Kirk will be the featured speaker at the Sheraton North Shore Hotel, 933 Skokie Blvd., Northbrook. Call 251-6460 or 251-8955 to serve.

Raising the dead

Long Grove Village Manager, D.M. 'Cal'
Doughty, long time foe of Rte. 53, says expensive public relations firms are spending lots of money to keep an idea alive that is economically dead. Doughty wants to have local officials settle highway problems instead of listening to the Lake County Transportation Improvement Project which he considers "highly political, expensive and public relations driven."

Back to school

Raiph Davis was a teacher and coach before he became mayor of Round Lake Beach eight years ago. Now that he's stepping down from public office, Davis said he expects to resume a career in education.

Piece of cake

Hainesville village officials expect to continue a tradition started when village meetings were held in an informal atmosphere—serving cake after adjournment. Mayor Linda Soto and incumbents running for re-election feel the cake is a symbol of community and neighborliness.

Better pay

Libertyville Trustee Gary Franzen likes his chances of unseating Supervisor RT.
'Mike' Graham. He probably also likes the supervisor's salary, about 10 times what he makes in the village post. The Libertyville Township supervisor's pay is in the upper bracket for county township supervisor's pay is in the upper bracket for county townships.

Ken Chapin has filed to make the race a three-way contest April 3.

Four-letter word banned from language hich four-letter word was used most often last year?

No, no, not that one, silly. You just have a naughty mind.
The word was chad. Not the country in Africa or the popular boys' name, just the hanging, dimpled and pregnant kind that hurled the annoying little word into our vocabulary during the 36 days of the Florida recount.

"We would hear it 12 times an hour on the news," said Mike Warner of Alaska, one of the many word police around the nation urging that chad be banished from our language.

The annual list of banished words is announced each January by Lake Superior State University in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

Hundreds of wordsmiths throughout the land recommend which ones have become over-used, mis-used and useless, and then a committee at the university decides which should be ousted from the Queen's English.

Other ridiculous and redundant expressions on the new list of banished bromides and banalities include:

Fuzzy math (unleashed by new President George W. Bush), negative growth, manual recount by hand, dot-com, factoid, final destination, and "have a good one."

The language lookout was a clever public relations gimmick conceived in 1976 by Lake Superior State's public relations guy, Bill Rabe.

THE PFARR CORNER

Jerry Pfarr

It put his university on the map when it was still mostly known as little old Michigan Tech.

Some of us fear the butchering of our ever-changing lingo is of little concern to most people. But after 25 years Lake Superior State's banished words list is attracting increasing interest as a January feature in major newspapers. And it has done a noble job in calling attention to the savagery to which our speech has been subjected.

Here are just a few of the all-time great banishments:

At this point in time.
Read my lips.
Let's do lunch.
Whatever.
Awesome.

No problem.

Also frowned upon are doublespeak and bose euphemism. Elevators are now called "verti-called cal access devices" and brown-nosing is sugarcoated as "networking" or "schmoozing."

Recently, doctors were discussing the odds of Vice President Dick Cheney having another "heart event."

Doctors at a Philadelphia hospital described a patient's death as "a diagnostics misadventure of a high magnitude."

Police reports use the word "gentlemen" instead of thugs. Such as: Two gentlemen beat up an old lady and another gentleman went through her purse.

Will we ever rid ourselves of such redundancies as pizza pie and tuna fish?

A bromide beaten to near death last year, but escaping banishment, was Regis Philbin's "Is that your final answer?"

Just because words make the banished list doesn't mean people will stop using them.
"Have a good one," sloppy slang for "have a blo mice day," was banished eight years ago but had to be re-banished this time around.

Anitomic In the musical, "My Fair Lady," Professor to In Henry Higgins, listening to the cockney dates 'speech in the London slum streets, says:

"I have "They should be taken out and hung, for only the cold-blooded murder of the English diquers Well, to borrow an old cowboy cliche, d boss hanging's too good for them. Oops, I just said hanging, but at least I didn't say hanging chad.

SEEING

some residents complained that some city officials were taking advantage of taxpayers on taxpayer travel officials were taking advantage of taxpayers on taxpayer travel junkets, Shorts proposed to establish a Travel Control Board. When citizens said that they are in the dark about what is happening with tax increment financing districts (TIF), he said that he will provide TIF Status Reports and Up-Dates.

The above are only a sample of the people-oriented issues that Bill Shorts is receiving from the people he meets ass he walks through Waukegan. He is committed to serve the public, and as the mayor, he will often remember the faces that he met, the friendly hand-shakes, the kids playing in their neighborhoods, and the hard-working families striving to improve their quality of life.

There are some politicians in Waukegan who don't want Bill Shorts to become mayor. There are some special interests people who don't want him to win. They would rather see someone win who they could control, someone that they might be able to strike a deal with. That is all the more reason why Bill Shorts should win; he has not obligations to anyone but the many people that he has met along the way on his long campaign walk.

Voters are too often fooled by supporting the candidate who runs the highly financed, glitzy campaign. Bill Shorts will be outspent by every candidate seeking the office of mayor. Don't forget—large campaign funds usually come with strings attached. Bill Shorts is running his grassroots campaign because he is then obligated to nobody but the ordinary citizens who want and expect good, responsible, and responsive government.

When Bill Shorts started his campaign last year, the political types in Waukegan gave him no chance. If he wins, it may be the biggest political upset in Lake County, ever. If he wins, he earned it and deserves it because

Can Bill Shorts become the Mayor of Waukegan—I wouldn't "sell him—Short."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Pedestrian friendly

ur daughters often need to ride their bicycles to Warren High School and Viking Park. Living on the east side of Gurnee, they need to cross at the Grand Ave. and Rte. 41 underpass. It's a very dangerous crossing for walkers and bicycles, with no automatic pedestrian signal or clearly marked crosswalk. I believe this is a serious safety issue for children and should be remedied as soon as possible. After discussing the problem with Charlie Crowley, the Gurnee First Team included a request for pedestrian improvements in their East Side Action Plan, including painting a stripe on the road to identify a crosswalk and the automatic signal. They topped it off with a crossing guard request.

COMMENTARY-

Where does this money come from? Us. You and me. Do I begrudge this money being spent on the education of our children? Not for one single moment. Because I truly believe that it takes a village to educate our children. It matters not an iota whether I have a child in this system or not; it is my DUTY to see that each and every child is educated to the best of my school system's ability.

But just as it is a duty to make sure these children are educated, it is also a duty to insure that the people sitting up at that table every month, the people making the decisions that will determine where my money goes, are the best possible candidates. That has not always not been the case.

I have seen money allocated in ridiculous ways., I have seen people with personal vendettas use their position to carry out outrageous acts of malice, all under the guise of "for the good of the district." I have seen "members so inept, so incapable of carrying out the simplest of dudes, that they continually looked foolish to all in the audience. Sound a little over the top? It's called small town politics.

There are those who get off on being able to tell anyone who will listen that they are a board member. That does not mean they are even close to being qualified.

When you think about how much of your money is at stake, and subsequently the value of a child's education, maybe the position of school board member is not such a trivial thing. Maybe it would be responsible of you to go to a few meetings and see the people in action.

Look at and listen to the incumbents and see just what kind of a job they're doing, or more importantly, not doing. Are they taking up chair space that could be used by someone who might make a difference? Talk to people who might be in the know, who have attended meetings on a regular basis. Get their take on the situation.

Take the time to find out who is running. Read the newspaper articles, go to a question and answer open meeting if one is being offered. But don't just vote for the first person listed on the ballot. And don't just vote for someone who is an incumbent. They may have been doing a less than stellar job, maybe even a damaging one.

So, if you want to do something to make a difference, take the time to educated yourself about your child's education process. Get involved, if even in the most basic of ways. And vote for the right people, the people who have the best qualifications, who are intelligent and moral and are doing this for the right reasons Vote, and vote wisely.

Editor's note: Candance Applehans is the mother of a high school freshman and two grown children. Her husband is an attorney. She operates a home-based business and she once ran for the school board.

How clean and healthy are our children's schools?

As we send our children to school everyday, it's important to know how clean and healthy their schools are. Because students spend approximately 14,000 hours inside buildings over the course of their school years, one area of growing concern is air quality in schools particularly for children suffering from allergies or asthma.

Asthma affects close to five million children and leads to 10 million missed school days every year, according to the American Lung Association. That makes asthma the number one cause of school absenteeism due to chronic illness.

The lack of good quality of indoor air may adversely impact these children - and the adults who teach them. "We know that fresh air, proper circulation and managing humidity are important in our homes," said Dr. Mary Lasley, Pediatric Allergist. "Why shouldn't this be true in a school?"

Part of the air quality problem can be traced to energy conservation. Since the energy crisis in the 1970s, buildings have been tightened up to conserve energy, leading to fresh air circulation problems. And school systems tend to close down heat and air systems at night to further conserve energy. This can easily expand problems of poor air circulation and create excess relative humidity in the school, contributing to mold and dust mite growth.

Fortunately, schools can take actions to reduce air quality problems - something as simple as constantly running the HVAC system and proper maintenance can work wonders in a school's environment. "Removing dust and soil often from all surfaces is a key element in maintaining good indoor air quality, along with proper ventilation and humidity control," said Dr. Mary Lasley, a pediatric allergist. "Parents should work with administrators to ensure the school has an environment that enhances learning while keeping our children comfortable."

Assuring a Clean School

Many factors may impact the air quality of the school environment, such as air drawn from outside sources, radon, HVAC systems, building materials, activities within the building, people, printers and copiers, wet and dry markers, and furnishings. Thus, the cleanliness of all surfaces within the school - the floor covering, ceiling tile, walls, windows, furnishings, and counter tops - play an equal role in contributing to a school's air quality. Regular cleaning of these surfaces can help decrease air quality problems.

Floor and carpet maintenance, for example, can reduce soil, dust and other allergens. Carpet is often used in schools to provide comfort for sitting and walking and a quieter and safer learning environment. "Carpet is simply easier and less expensive to care for than hard surface flooring," said Ken McIntosh, Technical Director of The Carpet and Rug Institute. "All it takes is regular vacuuming, attention to spots, and extraction cleaning twice a year. Properly maintained carpet can help improve air quality in schools because dust that settles on carpet is not easily resuspended and is kept out of the breathing zone."

With hard-surface flooring, dust settles to the floor, and as students move through hallways and classrooms, they stir up these particles into the air they breathe. Dry mopping hard floors re-suspends dust; wet-mopping is often only a dirty mop redistributing the dirt. Burnishing and polishing these floors is a time-consuming maintenance issue.

Carpet requires only two basic maintenance operations: regular vacuuming and periodic extraction cleaning. Vacuuming - heavy traffic areas, such as corridors and aisles between desks, on a daily basis removes a majority of the dirt. This daily vacuuming takes less time and cleaning substances than the sweeping, mopping,buffing, stripping and rewaxing that a hard-surface floor requires.

Routine vacuuming prevents soil from accumulating and helps to preserve the carpet's original beauty. Vacuum • cleaners should have high airflow (suction) and high-efficiency filtration. Using a vacuum cleaner bearing the CRI Indoor Air Quality Testing Program label will assure that it will remove soil, contain the dust, and not damage the carpet.

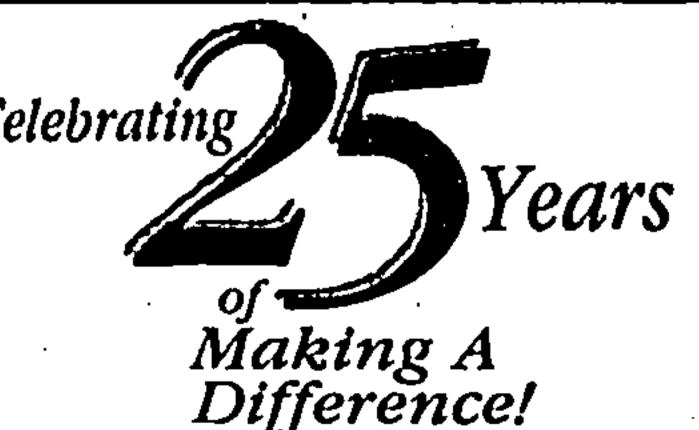

In addition, extraction cleaning of the whole facility should be performed just prior to the school year start and during the school's winter holiday. This "deep" cleaning helps remove accumulated soil overlooked during dally vacuuming activities. All moisture and cleaning agents should be removed from the carpet and it should be quickly dried. Ventilate during the cleaning process, and be sure the building's heat and air system runs for several hours afterwards.

Cleanliness is one of the factors that go into air quality, but one of the easiest to manage is cleaning carpet. Carpet offers schools warmth, safety from slips and falls, sound absorption, and insulation. But, properly maintained carpet's most important benefit may be its positive impact on air quality.

Dr. Sherri Singer

Hi Dr. Singer,

I write to you because I know you will agree with me on my issue and I need some support! My son dld something very wrong in school and didn't get in trouble at all. He threw something at another kid because the kid called him a name. That part got me mad enough but what got me more angry came next. What got me mad was the teacher's response to the situation. This teacher felt that my child had a right to get angry and throw at this child because of the name being called. In other words, what my son dld was not considered to be wrong by this teacher because there was a reason he did it. This was communicated to my child very clearly. My feeling is that everyone has reasons for doing things, even murderers, but what they do is still wrong. Now, I have a real problem because my son feels that this teacher backed him up on bad behavlor and I am getting a face full from my child about it. My child feels he has an ally in this teacher so now he feels that if he does something wrong, it's o.k. as long as he comes up with a good enough excuse. This is not how we raised him. He should have been punished for the throwing regardless. What do you think? Sign me Really Angry Mom!

Hi Really Angry Mom,

I agree that there is an issue involving your son, and I completely understand your anger about it. Getting angry is one thing. How he is taught to deal with anger is another. Unfortunately, I feel that this is a problem infecting our whole society at large. The problem boils down to the fact that right and wrong have become relative instead of absolute. We have many people in our society every day working to water down the "wrong" things and make them o.k. based on the person who did the thing or their background or some other characteristic about them. It happens every day in this country, in our schools and elsewhere. If it doesn't stop soon, and we don't start holding people responsible for their acts, this country is in some real trouble! In my opinion, right and wrong are absolutes. They are not relative. People have read my columns and heard me go on and on about the lack of punishment I see in this society and the detrimental effect I believe it is having. This is yet another example of it.

I will digress for a couple sentences to look at some scary stuff in the big picture and then get back to your son. People in this society find it much more comforting to find all the excuses and reasons for the bad behavior instead of calling it what it is and punishing it so it stops. This is why we have the lack of limits and boundaries we have in this society. I have heard politicians say that murderers should be let out and free because they were, "dropped on their head when small" or "abused." One of these murderers had effected 40 lives with his murders. How can someone's background make murder o.k.? How can anyone talk away murder until it becomes acceptable? I have heard many public figures talk about not punishing bad behavior because of all kinds of reasons. Each and every time that happens, the person who perpetrated the crime is not punished and gets away with it while all other people with similar thoughts and actions take notes. Unpunished bad behavior breeds more unpunished bad behavior. If one gets away with it, more will try until you have complete chaos. The problem I have with all of this is the forgotten one: the victim. The one who has the crime perpetrated against him or her. Each time that person has lost something. The perpetrator hasn't.

On a smaller scale, the same thing is occurring in your son's classroom. Very bad behavior is being given a forum and an excuse so that it will happen again. In your son's classroom, both boys were at fault for doing something wrong. My next move would have been to punish both in some meaningful way. Both boys were victims of the other one's irresponsibility. In the very old days, the punishment might have been scrubbing chalkboards after school. As I write that, I can almost hear the cringing of what I call "the overly compassionate antipunishment group." Both boys participated in bad behavior and both should have paid for that in some way. They would have learned something from it. Instead, both got away with behavior that is very destructive and they both learned that reasons can get you out of being responsible for what you

I have seen kids be told that bad behavior was accepted because the child was having a bad day or ate the wrong food or scored badly on a test. These are not appropriate reasons to act out. And, it's not appropriate for an adult to give a child those reasons. Aren't we supposed top be teaching our children to control themselves in spite of what has happened in their day. Doesn't it teach kids to be self-centered and ego-centric if we allow their "bad day" to end in misbehavior or acting out?

If you want to have a talk with the teacher about your thoughts, o.k., but I can almost guarantee that you will never change this teachers mind about this topic. I have not seen it happen to often. Usually, lack of discipline in the classroom is what leads to these things in the first place. What might be more successful is letting your son know that the next time you hear about this kind of behavior in school, you will have some extra hard work for him to do at home when he gets home. From the tone of your call, I'm certain that you shared your thoughts with him already.

Right and wrong are absolutes. We need to teach our children this so that the next generations might be able to get back to a more peaceful and less threatening society. Maybe one day this society of ours will get back to that thought and start becoming more civil again.

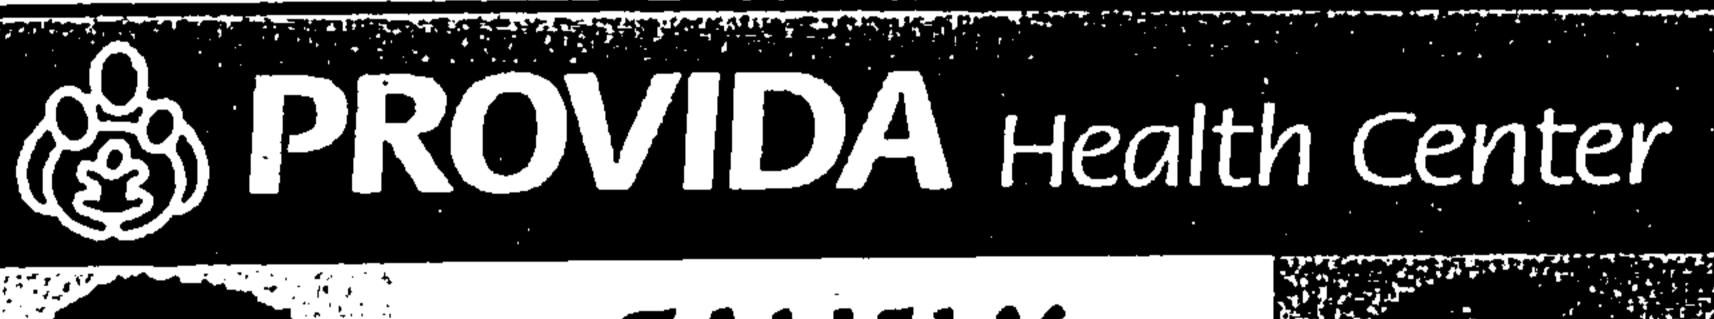

Dr. Sherri Singer is a Licensed Clinical Psychologist and Childhood Behavior Specialist. She regularly works in person with many readers of this column, helping them to significantly improve their kid's behavior and learning skills fast. Among many other services, she offers a "Parent Survival Training" class for parents. It lasts 3 weeks and has helped countless families to restore good behavior to their kids and peace and quiet to their homes! She is the author of, "Why Kids Misbehave" and "Raising Kids Who Don't Become Your Worst Nightmare." SHIP releases "top five" list concerning Medicare

Senior Health Insurance program answers five most common questions about Medicare coverage

When it comes to Medicare, Illinois seniors and their caregivers have questions. In fact, the Illinois Department of Insurance's Senior Health Insurance Program (SHIP) handled approximately 36,000 calls last year and coordinated more than 19,000 counseling sessions throughout the state.

The program, which provides free and confidential counseling for Medicare beneficiaries and their caregivers, recently announced the five most frequently asked questions by Illinois seniors concerning Medicare coverage. "Due to the complexity of Medicare, we literally receive hundreds of different questions each year," said Nathaniel S. Shapo, director of the Illinois Department of Insurance. "However, there are a handful of questions. that come up time and time again during our phone conversations and one-on-one counseling. By compiling and publishing our top five list, we hope we can quickly and easily answer those common questions that most Medicare beneficiaries are faced with."

The following list takes a look at the five most frequently asked questions as compiled by the Illinois Department of Illinois and

•Will Medicare pay for my prescription drugs?

No. Basic Medicare does not cover prescription drugs. However, there are Medicare supplements and HMOs that provide prescription drug coverage. To find out more about prescription drug coverage, call SHIP at 1-800-548-9034.

•Does Medicare cover an annual breast examination? What about a pap smear?

Yes. Medicare covers one mammogram every 12 months for women age 40 and older. Medicare also pays for one pap smear every three years. However, if you are at high risk for cervical or vaginal cancer or are of childbearing age and have had an abnormal pap smear in the preceding three years, you are eligible. for a screening once every 12 months.

 Does Medicare pay for prostate cancer screening?

Yes. Medicare pays for a Digital Rectal Exam (DRE) and Prostate Specific Antegen (PSA) for all men age 50 and older. Men are entitled to a screening once every year.

 When I turn 65, I will begin receiving Medicare Part A and Part B benefits. Will I have any problems obtaining a Medicare Supplement insurance policy?

No. Under Medicare Supplement laws, if you are 65 years of older and are going onto Medicare Part B for the first time, you have six months from the date your coverage starts to shop for a Medicare Supplement policy. You cannot be refused coverage due to your age or any medical condition you may have. The company may impose a waiting period for coverage or pre-existing conditions for up to six months, but it cannot refuse to sell you a

 How do I know if there is a Medicare HMO available in my county?

The Illinois Department of Insurance's Senior Health insurance Program can quickly identify if there is a Medicare HMO available in your area. Call 1-800-548-9034 to find out.

European-inspired townhomes overlook lake in Vernon Hills

A Vernon Hills, 123 townhome community, features exteriors with Bay Tree, a European motif, styled after the manor homes that adorn the French countryside.

"We believe every community should have its own unique flavor, so we pay a great deal of attention to exterior details, said Leon Joffe, president of Zale homes. "French Country connotes a lifestyle that is elegant yet relaxed, and is the perfect complement to Bay Tree's secluded and wooded location within Gregg's Landing."

Many of the homes at Bay Tree overlook adjacent 15-acre Lake Harvey and a wetland preserve within Gregg's Landing. The landscaped setting features rolling terrain, winding streets and cul-de-sacs.

Decorated models of all eight Bay Tree designs can be viewed at the Saddlebrook and Pinehurst sales center.

Ranch-style designs range from 1,640 to 2,449 square feet and include both lower-level and upper-level entry floor plans. Priced from $246,900 to $309,900, ranch-style homes have two to three bedrooms and two baths.

Depending on the floor plan, ranch-style homes have a great room or living and dining rooms, a family room, kitchen with breakfast area, private patio or balcony and utility room. Master suites feature on or two walk-in closets and master baths with dual bowl sinks and separate water closets. Options include additional bedrooms, kitchen preparation islands, volume ceilings in master bedrooms and fireplace/media centers in great rooms and family rooms.

Available options include a loft; den; additional bedroom; volume ceilings in the master suite; kitchen preparation island; whirlpool tubs; and fireplace/media center in great room, living room and fam-

"The bi-level townhomes offer an array of luxury features, such as nine-foot ceilings in lower-level living areas, a deck off the master suite and plant shelves," said Joffe. "Plus, the designs are very versatile, so buyers have lots of opportunities to customize."

Kitchens at Bay Tree feature furniturequality cabinets, double-bowl stainless steel sinks with Moen faucets, pantries and planning desks.

The BoatUS. Foundation for Boating Safety and Clean Water is looking for creative, hands-on environmental boating projects to fund. For the third year, the Foundation, funded through individual donations and charitable grants, is offering non-profit volunteer organizations grants of up to $2,000 for local, community-based projects that encourage environmentally friendly boating and fishing.

Last year, the environmental program awarded over $11,000 in grants to 10 volunteer groups around the country. The program has funded projects ranging from setting up aluminum recycling programs at local marinas to educating boaters on oil spill prevention.

Applications for the "Clean Water Grants Program" must be postmarked by Feb. 1, 2001, and all funds awarded will be available April 30, 2001. Additional details on the program are available on the BoatUS Web Site at www.BoatUS.com. For additional information and to receive an application packet, call 1 (800) 262-8872 (1 (800) BOAT-USA).

The 39th Annual CARQUEST World of Wheels will appear at McCormick Place North in Chicago the weekend of Feb. 2-4.

More than 500 souped-up street machines, heavenly hot rods and customized classics will be on display. One of the country's largest indoor custom car shows, this year's World of Wheels features celebrity appearances by World Wrestling Federation icon Mick Foley, better known as 'Mankind', John Schneider and Catherine Bach of Dukes of Hazard, and 'Jason' and 'Julie', stars of MTV's Real World.

Event hours are 5-10:30 p.m. Fri., 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Sat., and 11 a.m.-7 p.m. Sun. Tickets are $13.50 for adults and $4 for children 12-and-under. Discounted tickets are available in advance of the show opening at all Chicago-area and Northwest Indiana CAR-QUEST Auto Parts stores. YOUTH SPORTS DIGEST

Player evaluation for the Grayslake Youth Baseball Association will take place at the College of Lake County gymnasium on Saturday, Feb. 3 and Sunday, Feb. 11. The 7-8-year-old players will be evaluated from 8-10 a.m., the 9-10-year-olds 10 a.m.-12 noon, the 11-12-year-olds 12 noon-2 p.m., and the 13-14-year-olds from 2-4 p.m.

Team practices begin in late March-early April, with games starting at the end of April and continuing until the end of June. Tournament play for All-Star teams starts in early July. Game times are typically at 6 p.m. during the week and throughout the day on Saturdays.

Registration for Grayslake Youth Soccer, AYSO Region 396, based in Grayslake, will be held on Saturday, Jan. 27, in the main gym at the College of Lake County, located on Washington Street in Grayslake. Registration will be from 1-5 p.m. on both days. Players and parents or guardians must register at one of these sessions. Boys and girls born after 9-1-86 and before 9-1-95 are eligible to play.

Fees are $70 for the first child in a family, $65 for the second, and $60 for each additional child. After January 27 an additional $15 processing fee will be charged per player, without exception. The fees are for the full season, which consists of a spring and a fall schedule.

For any questions prior to registration, please call 223-7989 and leave a message.

Mail-in registration for the Libertyville Little League Baseball season is ongoing through the month of January. This league is for boys and girls ages 6-18. There is also a 'Challenger League' for players ages 6-21. Registration packets have been sent to all 2000 players. If registering by mail, form must be postmarked by Jan. 28.

In-person registration for new and returning players is also available and will take place Sun., Jan. 28 from 12 noon-2 p.m. in the cafeteria at Highland Middle School, located in Libertyville. Costs vary.

Furthermore, on-line registration is an option and can be done so by checking out the website at www.libertyvillebaseball.org. All information concerning registration can also be picked up at Cook Memorial Library in Libertyville.

Interested parties may also contact 367-1448 for further details. Please leave message and a board member will return your call. Opening Day is slated for April 21 with the season concluding around July 4.

The Lake Villa Township Baseball League will be hosting a walk-in registration for players age 5 through 16 on Thursday, January 25, from 6-9 p.m. and on Sunday, January 28, from 9 a.m-12 noon. Registration will be held at the Lake Villa Township offices, located at Rt. 132 and Fairfield Rd. (Caboose Park). Registration forms will be available at that time or you may visit the league's website to download a form at www.eteamz.com/ lakevillabaseball.

The league anticipates a banner season this year with the addition of night baseball games at its four-field complex and the construction of a new concession stand. For more information on some of the exciting changes for 2001, visit the website or call 508-0687.

With the tall, experienced and talented starters Fenwick has, many teams can face the problem of intimidation.

Carmel stepped above that crowd and showed progress in falling to No. 1-ranked Fenwick 51-38 Jan. 22 in an East Suburban Catholic Conference battle.

"It was a good game. We played well for two and one-half quarters. We played bad for half a quarter, and good, but not great, the rest of the way. We talked about the intimidation factor a lot," said Carmel coach John Ryan.

Carmel (17-6, 5-2 East Suburban Catholic Conference) was paced by freshman sensation Caitlin Krombach. Krombach scored 22 points.

Carmel led 9-8 after one quarter and trailed only 19-13 at half-time. "We must have been doing something right to hold them to eight points. That was their lowest half-time total," Ryan said. "Our shots just were not dropping, otherwise we may have been ahead at halftime."

Fenwick pulled ahead with an outburst in the third quarter. Erin Lawless, 6-2, scored 16 points, six in a key run. "They have so many weapons. You can't afford to have a lapse against them," Ryan said.

The Friars took control, increasing their record. They had defeated CHS 77-54, but this time a team with a nine-game win streak awaited them.

There was freshman Krombach, playing her usual game with reckless abandon. "She is all over the place. She can penetrates, pull up off the dribble. She can rebound at 5-5. She is fearless. She is a freshman and is still learning, but she has good basketball instincts," Ryan Christine Martinson, 5-11, was doing her best against Fenwick's twin towers-type players. She tallied 10 points. "We could not get her the ball enough. She is fearless, too," Ryan said of the junior. Martinson averages between 7-8 rebounds a game.

Carmel also has the talents of Megan Lick. She is among a growing group of tall players who can hit the three-point basket. She has had 20-point plus games. "She is one of the best three-point shooters in the area. We have to get her to put the ball on the floor and drive to the basket," Ryan said.

Ryan's team pounded Marian Catholic 67-39. "They were a ranked team earlier, but we came out on fire. We were up 23-6 after one quarter.

Ryan, in his second year, likes what he sees for the future. And who knows, Fenwick, the best team Ryan has seen this year, losses three starters to graduation next year.

Baumann powers Carmel boys rebounders.

By STEVE PETERSON Staff Reporter

A mid-week game played two weeks before the sectional seeding meeting brought out the coaches to see two .500 teams clash as Grant battled Carmel.

Carmel used intense defense in the final five minutes, superior rebounding and senior Joe Baumann's exploits to turn back Grant 41-

"Grant really executed well, so we knew it would be a grind-it-out game. This was the first time all year I had to encourage Joe to shoot. He brings a lot of confidence to us and he is a very vocal leader. He also has a lot of energy on defense. He always guards the other teams' first or second scorer," said Carmel coach Joe Malloy.

Baumann scored 18 points as Carmel improved to over the .500 mark at 9-8. He had eight points at halftime, and had a threepointer among his second-half shots.

Like Grant sophomore standout Andrew Wynne, Baumman played his grade school ball north of the border.

"He was a big worry for us. He is the leading scorer in the county," Grant coach Phil Ralston said.

Wynne was held to 12 points, below his season average of 16.2 points. Dave Behm, a senior, kept Grant close with a season-high 12 points.

"Our post players did a good job on Wynne. He is a nice player. He can shoot and put it on the floor. We got some good help on him," Malloy said.

Matt Muto, a senior, scored nine points and John Poletto, a junior, scored six in complimentary roles. Darryl Fletcher also had a steady game for Carmel.

"I thought we attacked their zone well in the second quarter. We don't see many zones. We had to attack the gaps," Malloy said.

The game pitted two rookie coaches, but players remembered last year's thrilling win by Grant on a last-second three-pointer by Eric Lemcke. Wednesday, after a 9-9 tie after one, Carmel opened up a 21-16 lead by halftime. Baumann and Muto did most of the scoring iin the 14-7 run.

Grant (6-8) closed the gap to just one point as Behm got underneath the defense for two baskets.

A 9-2 run finished the game strong for the Corsairs. The fourth quarter featured a technical foul on Grant coach Phil Ralston and Carmel upped the lead to six points.

Grant was short-handed for the game. Starter Eric Lemcke injured his shoulder watching a movie. The senior was Grant's Carmel put the game away with better composure in the final minutes. "We are a ball-control team and it is hard for us to get a quick score. When they had four guys on Wynne, someone should be open," Ralston said.

leader in assists, 3.8 a game and one of the top

He was not disappointed with the defensive effort. "When you hold a team to 41 points and 16-45 shooting, you should win," he said. "Give Carmel credit. They did the things they needed to win."

BASKETBALL CAPSULES

(A quick look at Lakeland-Area teams heading into the final month of the season.)

North Suburban Lake Division Antioch

Current record: 6-13, 2-5 (NSC Lake) Last year: 7-20, 4-10 (NSC) Coach: Don Zeman Key players: C Shelley Wolfgram, 6-1, Sr; G Bethany Shore, 5-7, Sr; C Erica Brown, 6-1, Jr; G Amy Mueller, 5-6, Jr.

Down the stretch: The Lady Sequoits continue to make improvement thanks to the strong post-play of Shelley Wolfgram and Erica Brown. However, inconsistent play and turnovers from Antioch's backcourt has prevented them from getting the ball into their twin towers. It took a while for the Lady Sequoits to get used to first year head coach Don Zeman's style of play but they appear to be embracing it as their play has

2000-01 LAKELAND GIRLS BASKETBALL PROGRESS REPORT

for them to challenge Libertyville in the firstround of the regional tournament. Mid-season grade: C-

Mundelein

Current record: 19-5, 4-3 (NSC Lake) Last year: 12-15, 5-9 (NSC) Coach: Brian Evans Key players: G Shannon Jung, 5-1, Sr; G Catherine Chresanthakes, 5-8, Sr. G Lizzy Washburn, 5-9, Jr; F Ashley Stein, 5-10, Jr; F Eileen Foley, 5-11, Jr; C Maureen Mitchell, 6-2, Fr. Down the stretch: The Lady Mustangs have turned heads all season long with their best play in recent memory. Mundelein has won close games throughout the season and has shown the ability to come from behind on more than one occasion. Although every player is important to Mundelein's success, the improved ball numbers. Their defense is also much improved, holding opponents to under 40 points per game. The rest of the season should provide many more close games but hopefully the Lady Mustangs will continue to prosper. Mid-season grade: A

Libertyville

Current record: 15-7, 5-3 (NSC) Last year: 22-8, 11-3 (NSC) Coach: Bill Mix (2nd year)

Key players: F/C Lizzy Aldridge, 5-11, Jr; G/F K.C. Coninx, 5-8, Sr; G Courtney Dydo, 5-4, Sr; G/F Kelly True, 5-9, So; G Shannon Devine, 5-8, Sr; G Jenny Boatman, 5-6, Sr; G Arin Yarc, 5-8,

Down the stretch: Senior forward/center Lizzy Aldridge has been the main cog in the Wildcats wheel, averaging close to 20 points and 10 boards per contest. It's been somewhat of a jekyl-and-hyde season thus far but look for that to stabilize with the return of defensive specialist Arin Yarc, the senior floor leader who has been sidelined since Sept. with a torn ACL. Flashes of brilliance have been demonstrated by quick guards Kelly True, Shannon Devine and Jenny Boatman. But turnovers and taking care of the basketball have haunted the Cats. losers of their last two games. Mid-season grade: B-

Warren

Current record: 9-14, 3-4 (NSC Lake) Last year: 16-14, 10-4 (NSC) Coach: John Stanczykiewicz (2nd yr.) Key players: F Kelly Mikkila, 5-10, Sr; G Tina Mrock, 5-9, Sr; F Amy Peters, 6-1, So; F Julianne Jackson, 6-1, So; G Leah Foster, 5-6, Jr. Down the stretch: The Devils' New Year's resolution is fully intact-they're healthy, and they're playing well. A little confidence also goes a long way, evident in big conference wins over Mundelein and Libertyville last week. The emergance of sophomore twin sisters Amy and Beth Wessel has provided a nice spark off the bench. Mrock's fire and street fighter attitude on the court has transcended into tenacity for the rest of the team. Peters, Jackson and Mikkila have been scoring inside the paint. The Devils have also taken better care of the ball, an ingredient they will need when regionals arrive. Mid-season grade: B-

North Suburban Prairie Division

Grant Current record: Last year: 10-17 (Independent) Coach: Tom Oeffling (2nd year) Key players: G Becky Holem, 5-7, Sr, F Jenni Wick, 5-7, So; G Rose Csulits, 5-7, So; G Nicole

Shannon, 5-6, Sr. Down the stretch:

Once a freshman B squad member, dedicated senior guard Becky Holem is stepping up her game and in this, her final season. The Bulldogs might be out of the Prairie race at 3-5, but confidence is important with regionals right around the corner. A big lift came when Grant handed Wauconda its only division blemish last week. Holem dominated, scoring a game-high 20. It was a game that Grant also showed its new-look starting five on offense. Csultis has provided a nice spark, as has junior guard Shania Turley. Mighty Stevenson awaits in the first-round of regionals. But Coach Oeffling and his young bunch, mostly juniors, are getting better game by game.

"We have a real young team. We hope the girls remember what this was like and put forth the effort for next year," said the coach. Mid-season grade: C-

Last year: 12-13 (Independent) Coach: Tim Bartusch (2nd year) Key players: G Melissa King, 5-7, Sr.; G Jodi Merganthaler, 5-6, Sr; G Tara Baker, 5-6, Sr. Down the stretch: It's turning out to be a dogfight in the NSC Prairie Division, with Wauconda, Round Lake and suprise Vernon Hills sitting atop at 6-1. Which team will show up, though? The one that looked good in handing Round Lake its only conference loss or the one that was blitzed by Grant! Mergenthaler, averaging close to 10 points per game, has been the primary offensive weapon with injured starters starters Laura Mau and Shania Sliz out of the lineup.

Sliz has been out since Christmas with an ACL injury. She provides the glue to the WHS pressing defense. The injury is unfortunately going to also cancel her upcoming soccer season. A senior, Sliz was all-conference last year. Mau could return this week if her broken finger Senior Tara Baker (six points vs. Grant) averages seven per game, as does King.

"We have had balanced scoring. If we do not scratch our way and rebound, we struggle," said head coach Tim Bartusch. Mid-season grade: B

Round Lake Current record: 13-8, 6-1 (Prairie) Last year: 20-8 (Independent)

Coach: Gary Edge (15th year) Key players: F/C Jenni Malueg, 5-10, Sr; G Kalah Blue, 5-2, Sr; G Gina Spear, 5-4, Sr; G Renee Ochs, 5-4, Sr.

Down the stretch: A third consecutive 20-win season is still in reach for the Panthers. But more importantly, Round Lake is right in the thick of the NSC Prairie race. They are tied with Vernon Hills and Wauconda at 6-1. A big date with the Bulldogs looms Feb. 2 at Wauconda. Two-time All-County player Malueg is her usual steady self, averaging 15 points per contest. But others have stepped up, like hot-shooting guards Spear and Blue. Both had career-high's in a big NSC crossover win against Mundelein last week. A tough opening-round assignment at Grayslake in regionals awaits Round Lake. But if the aforementioned continue their contributions and free-throw shooting (13-for-16) against the Mustangs) remains steady, the Panthers could be eyeing a date with second-seeded Barrington in the second round. Mid-season grade: B+

Vernon Hills

Current record: 9-13 (6-1 Prairie) Last year: (This is first season) Coach: Paul Brettner (1st year)

Key players: G Kim Rymer, 5-8, So; G Beth Plucinski, 5-5, So; F Natalier Neer, 5-10, Jr; F Jenny Kosatka, 5-9, Jr; F/C Molly Nora, Jr; F/G Natalie Neer, Jr.

Down the stretch: After 22 games, including an 0-5 start, the once young Vernon Hills girls basketball team is now a group of more seasoned players. The Cougars are fighting with Round Lake and Wauconda for the Prairie Division title. A big win over Wauconda certainly helped matters. The post game is solid with Nora, Kosatka and Neer, who is almost 100 percent coming off an injury. Meanwhile, a stingy backcourt is led by Rymer, who tallies close to 11 points per contest. The Cougars battled Round Lake Jan. 25, a game that will have tremendous bearing on the conference out-

"I feel we are playing pretty good. We are picking it up at the defensive end and rebounding better. Those were our two weaknesses early," said coach Paul Brettner. Mid-season grade: C+

ESCC

Carmel

Current record: 17-5, 5-1 (ESCC) Last year: 16-13, 4-6 (3rd ESCC) Coach: John Ryan (2nd year) Key players: F/G Sam Rinella, 5-8, Sr; G Kelly Bacehowski, 5-5, Sr. G Kaitlin Krombach, 5-5, Fr; C Christine Martinson, 5-11, Jr; P-Gd Kylie Adams, 5-6, Jr. Pt-G Nicole Kopier, 5-5, Jr. F Megan Lick, 5-10, So.

Down the stretch: Winners of eight straight, the Corsairs are one of the hottest teams in the area. What more can you say about freshman floor general Krombach, a gritty, hard-nosed player averaging 16 points per clip. The postgame has been effective with Martinson and Lick taking care of business in the paint, both in scoring and rebounding. The Corsairs host Wauconda in the opening round of regionals but a tough Lake Zurich squad will probably be for the regional crown. But Carmel is big-game tested, playing host to No. 1 Fenwick Monday. Mid-season grade: A

Fox Valley

Grayslake Current record: 15-7, 8-4 (FVC) Last year: 25-5, 16-2 (FVC) Coach: Mike Muldrow Key players: F Megan Francis, 6-1, Jr. F Tiffany Tietze, 5-10, Jr; F Elizabeth Sims, 5-8, Jr; G

Kristin Piasecki, 5-6, Jr. G Nicole Stefani, 5-2, Jr. Down the stretch: Expectations were low everywhere but in the Grayslake locker room for a team that lost the bulk of last year's 25-5 squad. The Lady Rams have let some games get away and have lost some close finishes but have still managed to be competitive in virtually every game. The most exciting part about Grayslake is wondering who the hero of the game will be. The Lady Rams have been unselfish and have played together throughout the season with a different leading scorer every night. From the way they have been able to play on certain nights it is entirely possible for Grayslake to compete for a regional title.

People die of that we're sure. Seems no one yet has found a cure. We trod our roads—some high, some low, Then leave this place so far below. Some leave no tracks, scarcely a sign. Others become a legend in their own time.

We knew such a man—walked by his side. Watched him win, watched him lose-Saw him laugh, saw him cry. His life touched so many, his road took him far. He was at home in the Statehouse or small backwoods bar. All those he met, no matter their place, Got something of value from the look on his face.

Our friend has gone on, but we still feel him near. His touch will not fade, his spirit is here. We remember his words, we live by his code.

And we thank him for leaving his tracks on our road.

The family of Don Kiesgen would like to express our heartfelt appreciation to all who have joined us during our loss, for the sharing, flowers, memorials, monetary gifts, visitations and words of prayer and strength. All of which add up to love and we love you!

Thank you ever so much and God bless.

Know what you can do for your future employer. By Scott T. Fleischmann

In the last fifteen years I have probably interviewed over a thousand people. In addition, I've discussed job opportunities with thousands more. In that experience there is one recurring issue that I see with most candidates. Most job seekers do not know their own skills well enough to explain the benefits of those skills to a future employer.

As you have read in this column before, the purpose of a job search Is to sell yourself to the future employer. The best way to do that is to analyze your skills and show that future employer how that set of skills could help them. Here is a process you may want to consider.

 Know all of your skills. If you feel like you may have overlooked some skills ask family members, friends, your pastor, former coworkers and former managers what they see as your strongest skills. Ask about skills that are specifically related to the job as well as soft skills. Soft skills are those that are not qualifications for the job but ... may enhance your ability to do the Job. For example, great interpersonal skills are not necessary for an accountant, but those skills help to work on a team of accountants, and to work with those in other departments.

 The second step is to put all of the skills together and analyze how those skills may help your future employer. I encourage job seekers to focus on the soft skills because those are the skills that most often make the difference.

I actually met an underwriter who believes that he was hired because he was a good infielder in softhall. He said that there were three candidates who had similar experience who were the finalists for a Job with a small insurance company. The hiring manager was the pitcher on the company softball team and he was aware the second baseman had left the company. Whether that was really the reason for the hire or not, this illustration points out that non-job related skills can make [] the difference. Unfortunately, some hiring decisions are not made if 🛂 based on job related skills. Therefore, be sure to evaluate every skill to 🕻 see if it may help a future employer.

The final step is to determine creative ways to mention each skill in the cover letter, on the resume, or during the Interview. In addition, you will want to present the skill in a context that will show the future employer how that skill will help you do a better job than other candidates. Here are some examples of some phrases you could use:

 My interpersonal skills have helped me to be a team player and to work well with other departments"

- Under interests on the resume, you could mention that you played softball for the company team for the last three years.

One caution, don't try to list skills that are not your strengths.

Dishonesty in skills is always identified eventually. Not only is it embarrassing when it is discovered, it may be grounds for dismissal. Identifying your skills is fun. Determining how they are of value to your employer is satisfying and it may be the key to getting a better job. Scott T. How To

Survive

The Job

Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: I understand that perhaps you may be able to guide me with a question I have regarding my resume. I have recently moved to Illinois from Missouri, and I am in the process of looking for a Job and sending out resumes. Where I am from, I spent the past 3 years working short term jobs for an employment service. It was steady work and the Jobs I had ranged from 2 day assignments to 3 month assignments. I learned so much and gained new skills along the for 4 years. After that, I notice you list the names of 9 different employers showing dates of employment at each one, and the duties that you were responsible for. Since these 9 employers add up to the approximate equivalence of the past 3 years, I am assuming that these were the companies that you were sent out to on assignment by your employment service. There is a strong possibility that the persons reviewing your resume are assuming something entirely different. Perhaps they are reading a resume that shows them a person with no stability who has been hopping from

Job to Job, when that is not actually the case at all. The fact is, the names of the employers should not appear on your resume, as they were not actually your employer. Your employer for the past 3 years, would be that of the employment service that sent you out on these assignments. If you revise your resume to reflect that, you should see results. In other words, the past 9 employers that you show, should be combined in to one employer, showing a solid start date and end date. Your resume now shows 2 employers over 7 years. Be sure to list duties under the employment service as temporary assignments long and short term with duties including . . .

Be sure when interviewing to allow the interviewer to know that working as a Temporary was by choice as it allowed you the flexibility to learn about different corporations and to develop skills along the way. Always when being asked for a reference, give the name of the person that you worked for at the service you were with. Of course call the person before hand to be sure that it is ok to use them as a reference. Let them know that you have listed them as an employer of 3 years whereby you were on call for varlous assignments both long and short term. If you left in good standing with them there should be no reason for them to give you

Proactive ENA, working for nurses and patients

Emergency nurses are making things happen. Ask Mary Jagim, RN, BSN, CEN, manager of the emergency center and walk-in clinics at MeritCare Medical Center, Fargo, ND, and the new president of the Emergency Nurses Association (ENA). She and other emergency nurses are not only ready to react to the next emergent situation, but they have become proactive as well.

ENA has a one-year-old Injury Prevention institute, where volunteers work to make a difference for consumers in issues related to guns, alcohol, bike safety and child passenger safety. Jagim says, "The objective is never to have them be a trauma patient." This is a good idea, considering the big picture in emergency nursing.

Today's ED is subject to all of what is happening in healthcare and society in general.

Patient acuity is rising; length of stay is declining. Cuts in the number of inpatient beds to balance budges now cause backups in the ED. With more people being covered by HMOs, researchers predicted ED visits would drop, but they haven't. Jagim says, "The number one concern is, what would happen to the patients? They are caught in the middle."

Today's ED is subject to all of what is happening in healthcare and society in general.

Jagim says the most pressing problem for emergency nurses is staffing, and this specialty is expected to be one of the hardest hit by the nursing shortage. She says patients who should be in the ED two hours are now spending days there. Patients can't be transferred out, and despite attempts to divert ambulances, they keep coming in. "The ED has no control valves..and although emergency nurses are flexible. and efficient, in most cases they are in need of additional staffing and space to care for patients."

ENA tries. In addition to its educational programs aimed at keepng patients out of the ED, it addresses occupational safety, including workplace violence. Another area of concern to the association is medical errors, to which the shortage, staffing and systems problems contribute. Also, ENA's Emergency Nurses Foundation raises money to fund research and scholarships for continuing education.

"A big part of ENA is helping to develop education resources to provide members with the knowledge and skills they need in their roles," says Jagim. ENA developed a trauma nurse core course, an

Think again! Nurses have—

• The power of numbers — there are 2.2 million RNs in the US and one in every 44 voters is a nurse.

•The power of position — nurses experts in a respected profession, providers of care in various settings, resources for media and for consumer and public interest groups and educators of patients and families on prevention and care.

•The power of politics — nurses are often involved in local, state and national nursing associations and are employed by healthcare settings that generate local economies.

•The power of knowledge — nurses have technical expertise, provide cost-effective care and can recognize quality care, as well as provide it.

Source: Health Policy Tool Kit, Oncology Nursing Society

identified body of knowledge taught all over the world; an emergency nurses pediatric course; and a course covering concepts in advanced trauma nursing. The association is also trying to support its advanced practice nurses (APNs), APNs in some rural areas cover EDs in place of physicians. Because most were educated as family nurse practitioners, not emergency nurse practitioners, ENA assists with their educational needs. At its annual meeting, ENA offers advance practice tracts in such areas as incubation, splinting and incisions and drainage.

ENA works hard to meet the challenges. Jagim sums it all up by saying, "If I think of where we would be in 2000-2001 without the ENA, emergency nursing as a profession would not have evolved as far as it has."—Suzanne Hauser Holland, RN, MSN, is a Nursing Spectrum contributing writer.
